REPORTS OF ARMED CLASHES IN ETHIOPIA

Great Bombing Plane Is Seen In Air Over Seattle

Boeing Machine, Largest Land Plane Ever Built In U.S., Outdistances Fastest Transport Plane In Spectacular Test

Is Described As "Flying Battleship"

Seattle, July 28.—Officials of the Boeing Airplane Company and Leslie R. Tower, test pilot, today looked forward to demonstrating their "flying battleship" before high air corps officials at Dayton, Ohio, August 22.

The new plane, giant streamlined plane with a 105-foot wing spread, took off on its maiden flight yesterday and completed it while officials of the company watched anxiously as Tower put the plane through its paces for an hour and a half.

"She handles just like a little ship—only a little bigger, of course," said Tower, his face wreathed in a grin, as he climbed out of the monster plane after bringing her to earth in a flawlessly easy landing.

Speed estimates
Flyers who watched yesterday's performance estimated the bomber should have a cruising speed of close to 250 miles an hour, and a "top" approaching five miles a minute. If their estimates are proved to be correct, it would mean the bomber could outdistance any pursuit plane, rendering all present types useless.

Cost $500,000
Yesterday's test was all in a day's work for Tower, a lanky blue-eyed young man, and his co-pilot, Louis Watta, but it was more than that to the airplane company which built the ship at a reputed cost of $500,000. On the success or failure of the initial test depended the possibility of competing against super-bombers of at least two other companies at Dayton, and a prospect the U.S. Government may adopt the plane as one of its standard types.

Like Great Bird
Gliding in the air between 7,000 and 3,000 feet above the airport, the great silver-colored bomber soared like a huge bird—a bird capable of (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

W. Hanbury Not Again Candidate

Canadian Press
Vancouver, July 29.—Wilfred Hanbury, Liberal M.P. for Vancouver-Burrard, will not be a candidate in the coming Dominion election, he has informed Thomas Braidwood, president of the Vancouver-Burrard Liberal Association, in a letter from Monte Lake, B.C. No reason was given for his retirement.

C.C.F.-SOCIALIST MERGER IN B.C. NOW

Plan to Work Under One Executive Ratified At Convention In Vancouver

Canadian Press
Vancouver, July 29.—Members of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation and the Socialist Party of Canada will work in British Columbia under one executive as one unit during the ensuing year, their organization to be known as the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation (C.C.F.).

The merger was ratified here by a decisive vote at the final session of a joint convention of the two parties which concluded early today. Arnold Webster, C.C.F. candidate in the Vancouver-Burrard Dominion riding, was elected president.

"ORDERLY ACTION"
A platform statement was adopted stating the C.C.F.:
1. Favors ownership of the means of life by the whole of society instead of by a small section.
2. Recognizes the necessity for orderly political action by an intelligent electorate.
3. Recognizes that a period of transition will intervene unless society is precipitated into a revolutionary condition.
4. Proposes in the provincial field organizing "the period" of transition by substituting social for the present (Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

CHINA HOMELESS TOTAL 10,000,000

Associated Press
Nanking, China, July 29.—The first authoritative estimates of the havoc wrought by the flood in the Yangtze Valley were announced today by Shie Ying-hsu, chairman of the National Government Famine Relief Commission, who said 10,000,000 persons had been made homeless, and property amounting to $500,000,000 Chinese dollars (about $100,000,000 in Canadian funds) destroyed.

He made no estimates of the number of persons drowned.

PREMIER TELLS OF THREATS

Hepburn of Ontario Has Two St. Thomas Men Brought Before Court

Canadian Press
London, Ont., July 29.—Henry M. Walker, fifty-four-year-old St. Thomas, Ont., metal worker, was charged today with "demanding money with menaces to steal the same" from Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn of Ontario. A similar charge was laid against Arthur Leakey, sixty, at St. Thomas.

Crown Attorney Norman F. Newton, asking the case against Walker, arrested last week, be remanded until a week from tomorrow, announced the crown would then be ready to proceed against both men. The remand was granted.

Six charges were laid against Walker, in two of which he was accused of attempting to get money from Premier Hepburn by threat.

Leakey was charged jointly with Walker, the count reading "he did with menace demand from Hon. M. F. Hepburn a sum of money with intent to steal the same."

The crown attorney revealed in court that Premier Hepburn had laid the information for the charges "in the regular way." He denied the charges were of a political nature.

"The report in a London newspaper that this was a political prosecution and that ball was being refused the accused is entirely unwarranted," he asserted. He said the crown did not oppose granting bail, but asked a substantial amount be fixed.

Home R. Neely, acting for Walker, remarked he had made no charges of political prosecution.

Walker, dressed in a dark, striped suit, appeared unperturbed when the list of charges was read to him. He reserved his plea.

Federal Election Date Is To Be Known This Week

Dissolution of Parliament Expected to Be Announced Within Few Days

Canadian Press
Ottawa, July 29.—The expectation in political circles here is that Prime Minister R. B. Bennett sometime this week will dissipate the uncertainty surrounding the date of the general election.

The Premier will return to Ottawa in the next few days, and one of his first acts will be to announce the dissolution of Parliament.

Latest available information is the election lists will be completed by the printing bureau between August 9 and August 12. The task of distributing them will, however, be a large one and will take up considerable time.

LULL ENDS
The beginning of this week saw the brief midsummer lull in federal political activity come to an end.

LIBERAL LEADER'S PLANS
Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, will break a long silence on Wednesday when he delivers the first of a series of three pre-campaign radio addresses. In them he is expected to summarize the Liberal position and to put forth the policy of his party.

His first platform campaign address will be at Kingston, Ont., the following week, and members of his staff are busy working out a coast-to-coast itinerary for him on which he will start a little later. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 6)

Big British Naval Plans Are Reported

London Daily Herald Says $750,000,000 To Be Spent Up to 1942; No Official Statement

Canadian Press
London, July 29.—The Admiralty today declined any comment on the assertions made by The London Daily Herald, Labor opposition organ, of a "secret" plan for naval construction and replacement involving expenditure of $750,000,000 in the next few years.

It was indicated the Admiralty might issue a statement later, but

WATERWORKS PAYMENT DUE

City to Meet $40,000 Interest Charge On Esquimalt System On Thursday

Payment of $40,000 in annual interest for the expropriation of the Esquimalt waterworks will be made by the city on Thursday, it was announced today by D. A. Macdonald, city comptroller treasurer.

Only interest can be paid on the sum up to and including 1937, but starting February, 1938, the city will pay instalments of $40,000 towards the retirement of the principal. Fifteen such instalments will be paid until the city owns the system outright in 1952.

At present the city holds in its sinking fund 2,925 of the total capital of 4,860 shares. The payment Thursday will be divided to devote $29,254.04 to the city's standing fund and $10,745.96 to the waterworks company.

Starting in February, 1938, the $40,000 payments will be applied towards interest and the reduction of the capital amount.

At the 1934 session of the British Columbia Legislature, authority was given to the city to invest its sinking funds in the purchase of shares of the Esquimalt Waterworks Company and all payments under the expropriation are divided between the company and the city sinking fund on the basis of the number of shares acquired by the city.

LICENSE MAY BE REMITTED

Ohio Bus Operators, Charged Month's Fee, Apply For Refund

The provincial government will give "sympathetic consideration" to a request for remittance of a license fee imposed upon a bus traveling here from Ohio, Attorney-General Sloan said this morning.

Some time ago the bus party arrived at Sidney for an intended tour of Vancouver Island. They were halted and the operators of the bus required to pay a fee equivalent to one month's license for the vehicle, as specified by the regulations. Protest was made in view of the fact the bus would only be in the province for a day or two, but the license was paid.

Subsequently, said Mr. Sloan, the operators applied for remission of the fee and this request is now being considered.

ITALIAN BLAST INVESTIGATED

Thirty-eight Bodies Recovered From Ruins of Munitions Plant

Canadian Press
Varese, Italy, July 29.—With thirty-eight bodies already recovered, rescue workers wearing heavy felt slippers to prevent new blasts if they should step on unexploded dynamite, today continued clearing the ruins of the munitions plant at Taino, near here, which was demolished in Saturday's explosion.

The plant was working day and night on rush orders for the Ethiopian campaign.

No official list of the dead, estimated at fifty, has been issued. Included in bodies recovered are those of a large number of women.

An official inquiry has been opened. Officials of the factory and municipality refused to answer questions concerning the explosion.

Villagers, however, expressed the opinion the first blast occurred in the packing warehouse. They said many girls were working in that building.

Witnesses said several smaller explosions followed the first tremendous blast, which caused a heavy pall of smoke and dust to obscure almost completely the immediate vicinity.

Bridge Will Start Without Approval

Premier Pattullo Announces Work to Commence On Fraser River Structure Despite Delay at Ottawa; Old Bridge to Be Removed On Completion of New One

The provincial government will not wait for Ottawa to give formal approval of the plans for the Fraser River Bridge at New Westminster before commencing the work.

This was explained today by Premier Pattullo, who announced that work will be started "almost immediately" on the bridge.

The Premier pointed out that while a certificate of approval of plans has not been issued by the federal government there is nothing now standing in the way of this certificate being granted.

In a formal statement he said the government would give the railways notice to vacate and the old bridge would then be removed. This would meet requests of the pilotage board.

"The pilotage board insist," he said, "that upon completion of the new bridge a lift span shall be placed on the old bridge. A lift span would cost approximately $1,250,000. The province would not be justified in spending such a sum of money."

TO GIVE NOTICE
Under the terms of the government's agreement with the railways the 4 years' notice of cancellation is necessary, he explained. It is the intention of the government to give the railways notice forthwith and upon cancellation of the agreement the old bridge will be demolished. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

News of Skirmish, With Deaths On Both Italian And Ethiopian Sides, Reaches Outside World

Italy Sending Experts To Geneva

Addis Ababa, July 29.—Rumors were current today that Ethiopian troops were headed for the frontier of Eritrea, the Italian colony on the east, but the War Office did not confirm this statement.

It was reported, also without confirmation, that a number of native Somalis had rebelled in Italian Somaliland and had started for Ethiopia in the region of Ubalal.

It was at Ubalal, last December, that both Italians and Ethiopians were slain in a frontier incident.

TROOPS MOVE AT CAPITAL
The movement of troops created a profound impression on the population of the capital. The people cheered the soldiers vehemently.

Troops under the command of Dedjazmatch Haptemikael, former cabinet minister, came in from the Lake Rudolf area.

Martial preparations reached a high pitch as an Ethiopian army estimated at 10,000 arrived from Gamu province. They were outfitted with new rifles, modern khaki uniforms, machine guns, and artillery and departed in high spirits for an unannounced destination.

Government officials in general denied any knowledge of a clash at Walakut, as reported in the London press.

Canadian Press from Havas

London, July 29.—An Italian-Ethiopian skirmish in which forty Italian soldiers and a score of Ethiopians were slain near the southwestern Eritrean border last week was reported today in news dispatches.

The Italian troops penetrated Ethiopian territory, according to the local chief, a report to The London Times said, and had camped near a stream. Diverting the stream so as to cut off their water supply, the Ethiopians (Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

Chinese Bandits Hold Britisher

G. Jones, Lloyd George's Ex-Secretary, and a German Captured

Canadian Press from Havas
Peking, July 29.—Chinese bandits today held David Lloyd George's former secretary and a German newspaper correspondent, demanding $100,000 ransom to free them.

Garth Jones, former secretary to Britain's war-time Premier and now serving as Peking staff correspondent of The Manchester Guardian, and Herbert Mueller, correspondent of the official German news bureau, were captured by bandits about forty miles from Kalgan, near the border of the demilitarized zone in Chahar Province.

Their Russian chauffeur was released by the bandits to present their demand for ransom.

The British and German Embassies here requested the Chinese authorities to demand immediate action from Chahar officials to assure the release of the two men.

LEAGUE GROUP EFFORTS FAIL

Committee at Geneva Unable to Agree On Penalties For Treaty Repudiations

Associated Press

Geneva, July 29.—The League of Nations special committee, named to study measures of punishment for nations which repudiate treaties, adjourned to-day in a stalemate on the virtual eve of the Council meeting called to consider the Italo-Ethiopian crisis.

Action of the members, who failed to reach any agreement as to what measures of restraint might be applied, was regarded as most significant in view of the Italo-Ethiopian conflict.

WAR MATERIALS

The committee, composed of thirteen members, including Canada, was created as a sequel to Germany's repudiation of the military clauses of the Versailles Treaty. It failed to act on a sub-committee report suggesting that offending nations might be deprived of the possibility of importing war materials and products essential to the manufacture of armaments and might also be deprived of financial credits.

forced the Italian troops to attempt a retreat under cover of darkness and then swept down on them. The Italian detachment was saved from annihilation by the arrival of a motorized battalion which took away the survivors, the account said.

A first contingent of Ethiopian troops 5,700 strong was reported to have passed through Addis Ababa over the week-end from the Abacha-erna districts, heading to the northward of Gondara, near Kibera, and a second force of 7,000 was following close behind.

ADMITTED AT ROME

Rome, July 29.—British reports of a battle in Ethiopia near Waluk in which forty Italian soldiers and twenty Ethiopians were killed were tacitly admitted here to-day, though it was said in authorized quarters the figures were exaggerated.

EXPERTS SENT

Rome, July 29.—Premier Mussolini celebrated his fifty-second birthday to-day by ordering seven experts off to Geneva for the League of Nations Council session which will deal with Italy's dispute with Ethiopia.

Six members of the Italian delegation will start for Switzerland to-night. Their chief, Baron Pompeo Aloisi, will leave to-morrow.

In announcing departure of the delegation, virtually the same which sat in the meeting at Geneva May 29 when arrangements were made for Wednesday's session, a government spokesman said the dispatch of the delegation once again proved Italy wishes to do everything possible to remain within the framework of the League in her quarrel with Ethiopia.

LIMITATIONS SET

He re-emphasized that Italy expected the Council conversation to be held along the lines of the Italian "sacred" principle of the Council's convocation.

(Italy specified that the Council limit its discussion to the theme of reviving the Italo-Ethiopian conciliation commission.)

He said, however, the Italian delegation had been given only general instructions, and that any modification of the Italian attitude would have to depend on the developments in the Council itself.

CONCESSION MADE

Geneva, July 29.—League of Nations circles said to-day Ethiopia had made a major concession in its dispute with Italy by refraining from insistence that the Council dig to the bottom of the controversy.

Emperor Haile Selassie, in his latest communication to the League, contented himself with getting back to the arbitration attempts. He asked that at its session on Wednesday the League Council define the powers of the deadlocked conciliation commission.

In answer to the Italian contention the commission should restrict discussion to frontier incidents, however, Ethiopia demanded no such limitation be imposed.

The Emperor had the right to call for a Council investigation of the East African crisis under Article 18 of the League covenant, under which the Council eventually would make recommendations for a settlement. If the Council approved such recommendations unanimously, any nation defying them would be pronounced an aggressor.

League sources interpreted Ethiopia's move as a manoeuvre to put Premier Mussolini in an awkward diplomatic position.

MILLION UNDER ARMS

Rome, July 29.—Italy will become a nation bristling with bayonets and rounding up the tramp of marching feet next month as the largest army ever known to engage in mere peace-time manoeuvres swings into action.

An estimated 500,000 men, many of them veterans of some of Italy's recent wars, who have been recalled to the colors in view of the Ethiopian situation, will participate in the manoeuvres.

(Premier Mussolini, in an interview with L'Echo de Paris last week, said: "Acts are more significant than words. At the end of August I shall order great manoeuvres—the north Italy with 500,000 men. In October there will be more than 1,000,000 Italians under arms.")

The movements will be spread over a period of almost a month and will make every possible point of resistance throughout the peninsula echo to the noise of war.

Emphasis will be given this year, however, to the defence of Italy's Alpine frontiers, particularly the mountain ranges in the vicinity of the frontier zone leading to Austria.

To this end 24 Duce has ordered eight divisions of about 15,000 men each to concentrate at Bolzano for the exercises facing the Brenner.

GUAYANA PROTEST

Georgetown, British Guiana, July 29 (Canadian Press Cable).—A mass meeting of 3,000 persons organized by the British Guiana Labor Union passed a resolution protesting Italy's policy in East Africa. The protest will be forwarded to the British Secretary of State for the Colonies in London.

APPEAL BY EDEN

London, July 29.—An authoritative source said to-day Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, Minister for League of Nations Affairs, has been instructed to make a personal appeal to Baron Pompeo Aloisi, the Italian delegate to the League, for an alteration of Italy's attitude toward Ethiopia.

His discussion with Baron Aloisi is expected to take place before the League Council session opens Wednesday in Geneva, and is also expected to precede a private three-power discussion between Mr. Eden, Baron Aloisi and Premier Laval of France.

In this three-power discussion, the British government is represented as hoping a satisfactory programme for the Council session will be amicably determined.

PRIVATE SESSION

Since Britain plans to press for a full airing of the controversy at a private session of the League of Nations Council Wednesday morning, when the question of procedure will be settled, some sources predict the Italian delegate may refuse to attend the public afternoon session.

The success or failure of the all-important morning session was considered to hinge largely on the persuasiveness of Mr. Eden.

"AGAINST EVERYONE"

Rome, July 29 (Associated Press).—Italy's historic hour has come, bringing with it "life or death now or never for the nation," Premier Mussolini's newspaper Popolo d'Italia of Milan proclaimed yesterday.

Later Fulvio Suvich, under-secretary for foreign affairs, received Sir Eric Drummond, British Ambassador. Then he flew to Rocca delle Caminate, where he saw Mussolini.

Mussolini's paper said: "Not to feel the stirring boom of this historic hour is to fail in the tasks which it imposes, or even to hesitate in making conclusive decisions means to renounce or to fall in the right and duty of life."

"Fascist Italy," said the newspaper, "under a prodigious superhuman tension feels its historic hour. The Italian people have but one peremptory duty and that is to obey and march on—if necessary against everything and against everyone."

dropping several tons of explosives or, with five machine gun turrets, of engaging in battles in the sky. Tower cruised the plane south to Camp Lewis and back to Seattle, and then set it down easily as a smaller craft.

The ship has four 750-horsepower motors, and can fly, company officials said, even though one of them fails. Two-way radio telephone, automatic pilot, a radio "homing" device and retractable landing wheels with air brakes are part of the equipment.

OTHER PLANE DIVER

War department regulations which make all details of the plane "military secret" prevented Pilot Tower from revealing the speed he had attained on the test. But Ralph O. Daniel, who took up a Northwest Airlines Lockheed Electra with a party of newspaper reporters and cameramen to follow the bomber, was compelled to dive to catch the big machine and the Lockheed Electra, fastest of all transport planes, is capable of a top speed of 220 miles an hour on the level.

The new bomber, weighing seven tons, is said to be the largest land plane ever built in the United States.

Bridge Will Start Without Approval

The Premier said the province is now losing money on the old bridge as the upkeep of the bridge costs more than the revenue received from the toll.

The Dominion Bridge Company has the general contract for the new bridge at a figure of roughly $2,725,000. In addition to this the government will supply the cement and also the cost of approaches and right of way which will bring the total expenditure to about $3,500,000.

It is hoped to have the bridge completed in two years. One of the main reasons for starting construction before Ottawa's approval has been issued, is so that as much work as possible can be done before the flood waters of next spring.

U.S. WARSHIP IS AT VANCOUVER

Vancouver, July 29.—The Detroit, flagship of Rear-Admiral Clark Woodward, commander of United States destroyers now in Puget Sound, arrived here to-day under command of Captain George M. Ravenscroft, for a four-day informal visit.

The vessel, a light cruiser type, has a complement of about 400 men and forty officers, including the admiral's staff.

THREE DIE IN AUTO CRASH

Vancouver Party In Tragedy In Washington, Near Border; Other Deaths

Canadian Press

Vancouver, July 29.—British Columbia counted nine dead to-day from week-end accidents. Three Vancouver people died in an auto accident just across the line in Washington, three were drowned, two were struck by automobiles and fatally injured and one man was found dead at the bottom of a twenty-five-foot deep excavation.

AUTO IN DITCH

It was when the automobile in which they were returning after a visit to Boundary Bay, Wash., overturned in a deep ditch two miles south of the international boundary, shortly before last midnight that the three Vancouver residents were fatally injured and a fourth was hurt.

Those who lost their lives were: John Dager, Victor W. Kilby, driver of the car, and Miss Marjorie Battersby.

Mrs. V. W. Kilby was severely cut and bruised.

The ages of those killed could not be obtained.

James S. Dager, father of one of the victims, was formerly bandmaster of the 29th Battalion, Canadian Expeditionary Force.

Police who investigated believed the three victims might have been drowned as the ditch into which the car overturned was filled with water. Mr. Kilby is survived by his father in Winnipeg.

WOMAN KILLED

An elderly unidentified woman was killed on Kingsway at Griffith Avenue, yesterday when struck by an automobile just after she had alighted from a bus.

Police refused to reveal the name of the driver of the car, but said a charge had been laid.

Thomas Dalsiel, twenty-three, was either drowned or died from a heart attack while swimming at Spanish Banks, Vancouver, yesterday.

Stanley Seaton was drowned in the south arm of the Fraser River Saturday while swimming with two other boys. Seaton disappeared as though carried under by a current. A fisherman recovered the body yesterday.

Guido Barson, sixteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. O. Barson of Trail, was drowned in the west arm of Kootenay Lake late Saturday afternoon when a canoe in which he was paddling was swamped by rough water and his action in standing up.

Choice of Two For Candidate

Yukon Conservatives to Name Hon. G. Black Or His Wife

Canadian Press

Prince Rupert, July 29.—Whether Hon. George Black, M.P. for the Yukon, or his wife receives the Yukon Conservative nomination in the coming election, the other will assist in the campaign, they announced jointly here to-day while en route north.

After ill-health had forced Capt. Black to resign as Speaker of the House of Commons several months ago, Mrs. Black was selected at a Yukon Conservative convention to contest the seat. There was no indication at that time Capt. Black's health would permit his seeking re-election.

The former Speaker said to-day, however, his health had been sufficiently restored to permit of his running for re-election. Accordingly, they have agreed to leave it entirely to the people of the constituency to decide which will be the candidate.

Heavy Damage Feared As Storm Centre Moves Toward Island

Canadian Press from Hanoi

Tokio, July 29.—A typhoon which was headed toward this city, but which later veered westward probably will strike the island of Formosa to-night or early to-morrow, the government observatory here warned to-night.

The storm will be of tremendous proportions and will be accompanied by heavy rains, scientists predicted. Heavy damage was feared.

Meanwhile, the South Manchurian Railway and other trunk lines have been forced to suspend services by a torrential downpour which produced the worst flood conditions in South Manchuria and China (formerly Korea), since 1929, dispatches said.

FIVE YEARS SINCE FEDERAL POLLING

Ottawa, July 29.—Political observers here to-day were reminding the people it was five years yesterday since the last Dominion general election, the balloting having taken place on Monday, July 25, 1930. The Bennett Cabinet was sworn in August 7.

The present Parliament is the third since Confederation that has exhausted its full five years of life. The Parliament of 1891 was not dissolved until 1896, while Sir Robert Borden's administration of 1911 continued until 1917, Canada then being in the midst of the Great War.

Federal Election Date Is To Be Known This Week

A number of cabinet members who have been out of town will come back early this week.

CABINET SHUFFLE

Announcement expected soon after Premier Bennett's return to Ottawa include reorganization of the cabinet and the launching of the Conservative campaign.

HOUSING LOANS

Early this week the first loans under the government's housing scheme may be made. The scheme contemplates a $10,000,000 house-building programme.

The first step is the approval of a list of loan companies and of the form of contract between the loan companies and the government. These have been completed by officers of the department and will be submitted to the cabinet early this week.

Indian Faces Murder Charge

Kelowna, B.C., July 29.—Albert McDougall, forty-seven, Indian, was held by British Columbia Police to-day charged with the murder of Edward Manuel, forty-three, another native of the Westbank Reserve, who was stabbed to death near the reserve Saturday night.

McDougall was arrested after an all-night search of houses and bush on and near the reserve.

According to provincial police, Manuel and his wife were visiting the McDougall family, quarter-breeds, and a dispute arose over a bottle of wine. McDougall, according to the police report, reached for a large knife and stabbed Manuel in the throat, killing him instantly.

INJURED MAN CARRIED FAR

C. Woodsworth, Climbing In Rockies, Hurt; Edith Wilcox, Victoria, Is Bruised

Canadian Press

Calgary, July 29.—His spine believed seriously injured, Charles Woodsworth, of Winnipeg, son of J. S. Woodsworth, M.P. Leader of the C.C.F., to-day faced a two-day journey over hazardous mountain trails from Mount Assiniboine to Banff with his body probably encased almost completely in a plaster cast.

Mr. Woodsworth is at present at the Alpine club camp, thirty miles south of Banff, where he has been since he was injured last Tuesday in a fall while leading a party of four down the north ridge of Mount Assiniboine.

Dr. Canfield Beatty, of Seattle, is attending the injured man at the camp. Mr. Woodsworth must be moved over a pony trail that crosses two high passes 7,500 and 8,000 feet before X-rays can reveal the full extent of his injuries. Plaster bandages were rushed to the camp by messengers from Banff yesterday evening.

Other members of the party, Dr. A. H. Rolph, Toronto, G. J. Selan, Yorkton, N.Y., and Miss Edith Wilcox, Victoria, B.C., were also slightly bruised. They were forced to remain all night on the mountain while guides took Mr. Woodsworth to the camp for aid.

Miss Wilcox is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Wilcox, of The Uplands.

Associated Press

Bowling Green, O., July 29.—Five persons were killed instantly yesterday when two automobiles collided in a highway intersection near North Baltimore, fifteen miles south of here.

The dead: Harry Ncube, thirty-four, and Harold Beingsesser, twenty-eight, Cleveland City detectives; Clarence Elderson, twenty-nine, a prisoner in their custody; Miss Carrie Rinkhart, twenty-six, and her brother, William, twenty, who lived near Findlay, O.

Two others were critically injured. They are Jack Joselyn Wynn of Cincinnati, O., state highway department employee, and Miss Rose Ellen Reed, twenty-two, whose home also is near Findlay.

The detectives were returning to Cleveland from a farm near Dealer, O., where they had taken Elderson into custody on an embezzlement charge.

CHECK FOR HAPSBURGS

Canadian Press from Haves

Vienna, July 29.—The Austrian government's determination to prevent immediate restoration to the throne of the Hapsburgs was seen to-day in instructions sent to provincial governors to restrict royalist meetings and to prevent localities naming Hapsburgs honorary citizens.

Fearful the increase of royalist demonstrations in the provinces since the repeat of the law ending the Hapsburgs may have effects abroad, the government sent instructions to the authorities ordering them to stop all such activities.

Constitutional Changes for Irish

Canadian Press from Haves

London, July 29.—Laws which would divorce the Irish Free State completely from Great Britain are being prepared by President Eamon de Valera of the Free State, according to a Dublin dispatch to The Sunday Express of London.

The first law would abolish the post of Governor-General, the King's representative in Dublin. The second would revise the constitution, eliminating the oath of allegiance to the King. These measures are expected to be presented to the Dail when it reopens in October.

Fire Advocated For Ethiopia

West Indian Suggests Land
Be Devastated If Italians Advance

London, July 29.—Ethiopians should devastate their country by fire rather than submit to Italian domination, according to C. L. R. James, a native of the West Indies.

Men and women attending a gigantic meeting, arranged by the International African Friends of Ethiopia, yesterday evening listened to James' contention and pledged themselves to do everything in their power to support Ethiopia in her fight for independence, and if necessary to "take our place on the firing line."

They passed a resolution, demanding the League of Nations take measures to restrain Italy from infringement of international law and calling on Britain to use all her influence in the League to assist Ethiopia to defend herself.

The resolution also called on Britain to protest to Italy against the latter's "immoral and barbarous attitude" towards Ethiopia.

Mrs. Ashwood Garvey, a native of the West Indies, who presided, said: "We of the African race in the western world must remember the degradation of the struggling millions in Africa is our degradation, their emancipation our emancipation."

Beer In Texas 60 Cents An Hour

Associated Press

Dallas, Tex., July 29.—The price of beer was cut to 60 cents an hour here yesterday. A saloon offered "all you can drink" for that price. But it took a real beer guzzler to come ahead on the deal. The beer offered retails regularly at 10 cents for a twenty-four-ounce stein, so the drinker must gulp considerably more than a gallon an hour to show a profit.

URGES U.S. BAR ARMS EXPORTS

Representative G. H. Tinkham of Massachusetts Advocates Neutrality Plan

Associated Press

Washington, July 29.—A charge the President and the State Department are dominated by the British Foreign Office was coupled yesterday by Representative Tinkham, Massachusetts, Republican, with a demand for neutrality legislation.

"Both the President and the Department of State, dominated and controlled by the British Foreign Office," he said in a statement, "are opposed to legislation providing for strict neutrality of the United States in the next war, a war which is already beginning to loom on the European horizon."

Tinkham contended the President, through the State Department, had opposed an amendment to bar arms exports to any country engaged in a war to which the United States was not a party. The amendment, he said, would have meant "strict neutrality" for this country.

"The British Foreign Office," Tinkham said, "is opposed to such legislation by the United States."

"Such legislation would prevent Great Britain from using the United States as an arsenal for her war supplies in the next war, as was in the case in 1914-1918, and also would tend to prevent Great Britain from again involving the United States in war for her purposes."

Promising introduction of such arms effort legislation early this week, Tinkham said it should be enacted "if the interests of the United States are to be given first consideration instead of the desires of the British Foreign Office."

FLOWER SHOW IS SUCCESS

Presentation of Prizes Brings
Two-day Exhibition
To Close

The presentation of prizes and trophies by Reeve R. W. Mayhew of Oak Bay closed Victoria Horticultural Society's summer flower show Saturday evening.

Encouraged by the knowledge that their biggest annual event was such a marked success this year, both from the point of view of exhibits and attendance, members of the society were at work to-day pulling down the scaffolding and staging in the main building at Willows Park which for two days held on display the floral beauty of Victoria.

The ballot box containing the secret of the public's choice of the most beautiful gardens in Victoria still remains locked up to-day. Due to the large number of ballots cast in the garden survey staged for the first time this year, officials of the horticultural society have not had time to count them as yet. The results will probably be known to-morrow.

In the individual classes at the show, A. M. Scott of Saanich headed the list and received the grand aggregate trophy donated by J. Mayhew. As Mr. Scott won the spring flower show recently, he is well on his way to becoming this year's Banksian medalist. The Banksian medal is donated by the Royal Horticultural Society for the man to score the largest number of points in the Victoria Horticultural Society's three flower shows.

In the display classes, the Women's Auxiliary to the Victoria Horti- cultural Society won the Angus Challenge Cup for their exhibit in the district display.

Reeve Mayhew presented D. Pitterson, gardener to C. P. Hill, with the trophy for the garden display. J. Mayhew was awarded the prize for his display in the pot plant class.

Mr. Mayhew presented Alice Burnfield with a cup donated by C. S. McTavish for the best gladiolus in the exhibition, and G. Atwood with the Victoria Floral Company's trophy for the best sweet pea.

In the table decoration class, Mrs. E. W. Darcus received the cup given by Murdoch's Antiques for first place, Mrs. C. Wilson the E. C. Maynard Trophy for second prize, and Mrs. A. R. Harness the Cushman Floral Company's award for third prize.

George Little was presented with the silver challenge cup for the best display of vegetables at the show, and Mrs. Mayhew gave J. Mayhew the R. A. Nicholson trophy for the best amateur exhibit in the floral section.

In presenting the prizes, Mr. Mayhew congratulated the exhibitors and the society for making the show possible. He referred to the greatly improved appearance of homes and gardens through the work of the horticultural society.

He plans to return to the Coast this week, probably by train, to compete in cycling races to be staged in Victoria next month.

MOSCOW HEARS U.S. COMMUNIST

Earl Browder Tells International of Activities
In Republic

Associated Press

Moscow, July 29.—Earl Browder, general secretary of the Communist Party in the United States, told the Seventh Communist International here to-day that the American Communist Party is carrying on the traditions of the United States War of Independence.

"We have assimilated the revolutionary traditions of 1776," he said. "We are heirs to the revolutionary movements from which the United States originated."

He said the native American membership of the party had increased from 10 per cent in 1930 to 40 per cent at the present time, and that the total membership is now 30,000.

Browder declared agents of the Communist Party had reached more than 1,000,000 factory workers, and that the sphere of the party's influence was growing among students, farmers and white collar workers in the cities.

"Broad masses are flocking to our movement against war and fascism," he added, describing "fascism in disguise—as an ever present danger in America."

Said Browder: "Hoover and the Republicans blame the Roosevelt regime for fascist tendencies; the Rooseveltians blame Long and Coughlin; but all of them consider coalition to be right. The Republican and the Democrat are the true conductors of fascism in America."

William Pieck, a German delegate, delivering the general report to the congress, said the principal task before American Communists was the formation of a coalition of workers' organizations.

URGE AUSTRIAN DEPORTATION

Canadian Press from Haars

Vienna, July 29.—The British legation here to-day requested the federal chancellery to commute the sentence imposed on Alfred Benesch of Bar-headed, Alta., and deport him from Austria as an undesirable alien.

Benesch was arrested in Regensburg, near here, July 11, and sentenced to four and half months' imprisonment for a remark interpreted as derogatory to the Vice-Chancellor, Prince Ernst Rüdiger von Starhemberg.

The federal chancellery promised to investigate the matter, but has not yet reached a decision.

Reform Is Keynote of Liberal Campaign In Alberta;
Social Crediters Propose
"Basic Dividend"; Polling
August 22

Canadian Press

Edmonton, July 29.—Nominations this week and next probably will push the total number of candidates for the Alberta election scheduled for August 22 close to the 250 mark.

There are now 235 in the field for the sixty-three seats.

Reform is the keynote of the platform the Liberal Party, led by W. R. Howson, K.C., is offering the electors. A new start, a new deal, a people's policy and a taxpayers' policy are stressed by the Liberal party, which attacks the United Farmers of Alberta government's policy of "drive" and "carelessness."

CONSIDERED OPINIONS

"The considered opinions of the Alberta people, regardless of political affiliation or industry, have been obtained and consolidated in the platform which the Alberta Liberal party is submitting for your consideration," Mr. Howson declares. "It is not general in character but is specific as to what must be done and will be done. It is the expression of the people of Alberta."

"If you desire a change in Alberta, vote Liberal," the manifesto says, and the platform follows this trend throughout. Monetary reform, legal reform, lower tariffs, bigger markets, trade promotion, public health service, relief to the taxpayers, wholesale reform of the Department of Agriculture and the industry, reform of the educational system, betterment of the condition of ex-servicemen and their dependents, a works programme for unemployed, and investigation of the Alberta Government telephones system.

SOCIAL CREDIT INQUIRY

Of Social Credit, the most controversial scheme placed before electors the Liberal Party takes a stand-off view. It promises, if returned to power, to employ three of the most expert Social Credit advocates to carry on an investigation into the proposed scheme and have these men submit a plan of social credit for the province which will be put before the Legislature.

The Liberal Party pledges itself to a policy of so controlling the credit of the province as to preserve the financial stability of Alberta and to preserve the ability of the province to meet its obligations and at the same time carry on all necessary social services.

"BASIC DIVIDEND"

It would be at least eighteen months before a Social Credit government, if the Aberhart adherents should find members successful at the polls August 22, would be in a position to pay its initial dividend—the basic dividend—of $25 a month, William Aberhart, leader of the new political force, has told the Alberta electors.

The group has chosen the name, Alberta Social Credit League. The sum of $25, Mr. Aberhart adds, has been merely suggested for illustration. It would not be less and as Social Credit plans move forward it is the plan to increase the monthly dividend payments if possible. Payable to bona fide citizens of Alberta, it does not mean that every member of a household would receive $25 a month, he says. For children, from sixteen to twenty years old, payments would range from $5 to $20 a month, according to age. A wife would receive $25 as well as her husband.

WOULD PAY ON CREDIT

Payment would not be made in money but in credit. A "State Credit House" would be created, he says. Under the plan, each citizen would be given a dividend book and a book of blank, non-negotiable certificates. The book would be presented to the Credit House each month and a credit entry of $25 made. Non-negotiable securities would be used for the purchase of goods or services. No new money would be issued.

Provision would be made against a "squandering of dividends." Those who abused their dividends would be placed on an "Indian list." There would be no relief or dole, as known to-day, under Social Credit, says Aberhart. If a citizen refused to work when employment was obtainable, he would be suspended from the dividend privileges.

It has been estimated that it would take $120,000,000 annually to pay the basic dividend at the rate of $25 a month to each citizen.

TOWN FIGHTS FOR HYPHENS

Hohokus, N.J., Believes U.S.
Government At Last
Making It Ho-ho-kus

Associated Press

Ho-ho-kus (Hohokus), N.J., July 29.—The citizens and officials of Hohokus (Ho-ho-kus) who have been raising a ruckus in an effort to have hyphens used in the name of this town and have been getting the hoho instead of the ho-ho from the Post Office Department, the Erie Railroad, the telephone company and other economical agencies which consider hyphens an unnecessary bother and expense, say a hyphenated ray or two of hope to-day.

One ray came from Washington, where officials of the Post Office Department said they would be only too glad to inject a couple of hyphens into the situation if they found they were wrong.

A second ray appeared at a birthday party at Mayor Bernard Lamb's home yesterday, when the birthday cake was wheeled in. The cake, a large three-layer affair, was on a miniature elephant. Protruding from the elephant's trunk was a flag bearing the line:

"Birthday greeting from Ho-ho-kus."

ALBERTA'S POLITICAL HODGE-PODGE

WHEN THE PEOPLE OF ALBERTA GO to the polls on August 22 they will have to make their choice of the sixty-three members of the next Parliament from a roster of probably 250 candidates.

So far 236 aspirants are definitely in the field. The Aberhart Social Crediters have a candidate for every one of the Legislature's sixty-three seats, and the Liberals have nominated sixty-one, having decided to enter only four candidates in the six-seat Calgary riding. The United Farmers, the government party, have forty-two nominees and expect to have more, while the Conservatives, also with forty-two nominated, may follow the example of the Social Crediters and have a candidate in practically every riding. Twenty-five aspirants represent minor factions and more are expected in the next ten days.

At the dissolution of the Alberta Parliament there were thirty-six Farmers (U.F.A.), and thirteen Liberals, the remaining fourteen seats being held by Conservatives, Laborites, and Independents, while there was one vacancy.

With an entry list of considerably more than 200 representing the four chief contending parties it is about as difficult to predict what the verdict will be as it is to foretell the result of a horse race. In recent provincial general elections, such as in New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, of course, the situation was entirely different, and while it was hardly expected that the Conservative debacle would be so devastating, a Liberal victory in both these provinces was considered a certainty.

The unique feature of the Alberta contest is the initial entry into the Canadian political realm of the advocates of Social Credit. The founder of this new financial system, Major C. H. Douglas, has been retained by the Alberta government and already he has submitted a preliminary report. Mr. William Aberhart—who will not be a candidate but who says he will accept the Premiership if his group should win at the polls—has developed a Social Credit scheme, but it is not the Douglas scheme.

An equal deal for all citizens of Alberta is the object of the Aberhart League whose leader obtained a mandate from its members early this year to enter politics. By payment of a basic dividend of $25.00 a month to every citizen of the province, a "flat price" for all commodities, and creation of credit within the province, he seeks to banish unemployment and poverty. "Banish poverty" he has told his followers is his only interest in entering the political field. All meetings of the League are opened with prayer and the singing of the League's theme hymn—"O God Our Help in Ages Past"—and closed with a prayer.

How many people in Alberta understand the Douglas plan of Social Credit, or the Aberhart version of it, is difficult to estimate. It can be taken for granted no doubt that the number of voters who are wondering where the money is coming from to pay that "basic dividend" of $25 a month is legion. Another much more widely-known public man told the Canadian people in 1930 that he was going to end unemployment—which is a fundamental plank in the Aberhart platform—or perish in the attempt. The perishing act is now due and unemployment is more than six times as grave as it was in 1930.

Premier R. C. Reid will lead the Farmers (government) party for the first time as government leader. He is known as a champion of farmers' rights, who long before the advent of the United Farmers of Alberta government had played a prominent part in the agrarian life of the province. After filling important positions in the U.F.A. administration from its formation in 1921, Mr. Reid was chosen Premier on the resignation of Hon. J. E. Brownlee a year ago.

Liberal Leader William Robinson Howson, K.C., Leader of the Opposition in the last Legislature, has had a romantic career. From a bare-footed farm lad at Norwood, Ont., he became successively a school teacher, bank clerk, bank manager, collector, salesman for farm implements and real estate, university student, lawyer, soldier, and politician, and finally reaching his present position. The natural sequence might be that he would out his varied career as Prime Minister of his adopted province.

Unlike the Liberal and United Farmers parties, the Conservatives have the same leader for this election as they had in the 1930 provincial campaign—Mr. David Milwyn Duggan, a former Mayor of Edmonton and a member of the Legislature since 1926. He and five other Conservatives formed the third largest party in the last Parliament.

From the details we have set out, therefore, it will be seen that the forthcoming test in Alberta will be an interesting one, not only because of the large number of candidates and the various political schools they represent, but more especially because of the introduction to the electors of something in the way of economics which is new to the Canadian public as an election issue.

A SINISTER OMEN

YESTERDAY AT SEATTLE A GIANT streamlined super bombing airplane successfully completed its initial test preliminary to a trial before high air corps officials of the United States government next month.

The new plane has a wing spread of 105 feet, it carries five machine gun turrets and can drop several tons of explosives. It is propelled by four 750-horsepower motors, a two-way radio telephone, automatic pilot, a radio homing device and retractable landing wheels with air brakes.

Aerial navigation—both for peace and war has reached a point which justifies the prediction that within a few years the sky will be full of public and private planes carrying passengers, freight and mail, and making surface transportation progress during the last century, impressive though it has been, seem mediocre by contrast.

If this progress were confined to peaceful purposes, it would be a boon to society. But yesterday's trial flight at Seattle is yet another sinister reminder of the dreadful possibilities of the airplane as an agency of destruction in war. Machines which can drop tons of explosives, bombs charged with gas and the germs of pestilence, not to speak of formidable armament for fighting purposes, capable of high speed and far-ranging capacity, would be able to carry destruction to the very heart of every community.

No longer could any country consider itself in a position of splendid isolation on account of "moats defensive" and ramparts established by geographical conditions. Aerial navigation progress has upset geography in this respect, just as it has reversed the methods in which the chief victims were armed men on the battlefield or in trenches. In future the arena of battle will be in the air, the home front the most unsafe place, and the chief victims the unarmed civil population.

Nor will it be possible to abolish, moderate or regulate aerial warfare, except by the abolition of war itself. Nations fighting for their existence or ruthlessly attempting the destruction of one another, will use every agency at their command and break every convention to win victory. The last war emphasized this inexorable law of self interest and self-preservation. A drowning man will grasp at a straw, and a desperate nation would not hesitate to employ aircraft to beat its opponent. War can no longer be waged on a limited basis, or according to the nice punctilios of duels.

THREE TIMES IN A ROW

FOR THE THIRD TIME IN SUCCESSION the Davis Cup, emblematic of the world's tennis supremacy, remains in the possession of Great Britain. By the defeat of Allison (U.S.) on Saturday by Austin (G.B.) and the victory of Perry (G.B.) over Budge (U.S.) Britain scored an important advantage which the British doubles combination composed of Hughes and Tuckey followed up this afternoon by taking Allison and Van Ryn into camp after a comparatively close battle.

The British defenders got a good deal of satisfaction out of today's victory because it was the first time that Hughes and Tuckey had paired in cup competition. Indeed the latter is a newcomer to the Davis Cup fray and the dispatches to-day intimate that his fine work at the net was a dominant factor in the decision. No doubt because of the fact that it was a new combination, that it was a new experience for Tuckey, the challengers had felt fairly confident of winning at least the doubles match. It quickly developed, however, that the United States pair were up against formidable opposition, Tuckey's bounding serve proving a perfect complement to his partner's forecourt game, and when he went to the net he more than held his own. The singles to-morrow, of course, will be merely an exhibition and the result will have nothing to do with the issue.

Britain has every reason to be proud of this third Davis Cup victory in succession. On the showing, it would be invidious to single out one British player for special mention, but it is safe to say that even to such an experienced player as "Bunny" Austin, the presence of Perry on the team must have been an inspiration in itself, for Perry to-day is the reigning monarch of the world's courts.

This latest victory for British sport follows closely on the triumph of another Perry—Alfred Perry, who recently won the British open golf championship, equalling the lowest score ever recorded in this gruelling event, the 283 which stands to the credit of Sarazen of the United States and Cotton of Britain.

For several years after the war Britain did not show up very well on the tennis courts or on the golf links when compared with the achievements of United States contenders in these international events. But the reason was not far to seek. Most of the ranking exponents of both tennis and golf, who in the days before 1914 were able fairly well to hold their own against all comers, dropped everything two decades ago and went to the war. Hundreds of them never returned. So it has been the job of Britain to raise an entirely new school of sportsmen. Then again, our neighbor on the south has a population of 130,000,000 from which to draw her aspirants for international sport honors. Britain has less than 50,000,000.

Happily, however, these clashes on the courts and on the golf links have done much to cement the friendship of the peoples of the Anglo-Saxon and other countries.

THOUGHTS ON BEING TOO RICH

I see the foolish things some do,
 I watch them play at loot and pitch
 And wonder when the day is through
 If that's the joy of being rich?

I gaze on men and women gay
 With simple pleasures plainly bored,
 And wonder would I act that way
 If luxury I could afford?

I see men quarrel with their wives,
 Sad actors in regretful scenes,
 And strangely this one thought survives:
 Is this what having money means?

I've seen some worn and tried and frayed,
 Turned slaves to snobbery and style,
 And wondered at such shams displayed
 If being rich can be worth while?

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

AN IMPORTANT MARKET ENDANGERED

The Edmonton Journal

It would be a very serious matter to have the export opportunities that Japan presents so much curtailed, as is inevitable if the decision now announced is acted upon. The Ottawa department pointed out that Canadian manufacturers were supplying practically all of the Japanese foreign purchases of newspapers and that the prospects were favorable for increased sales there of lumber and rayon pulp. While most of Japan's wheat imports have of late been coming from Australia, owing to currency conditions, the future possibilities of that market for our principal product are very great and of late it has been absorbing outside supplies to a steadily increasing extent. The wheat-growers of western Canada are thus intimately concerned in having Japanese-Canadian trade placed on a more satisfactory basis.

Loose Ends

Mr. Babson has a solution—
 There is a shortage of celebrities
 —and we turn to real issues
 —worthy of free men.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

WITCH DOCTOR

MR. ROGER BABSON, the great luncheon club philosopher of America, has lately laid down his programme for saving the world. It is delightfully simple. All we need, it seems, is birth control. "Those who produce more than they consume should be encouraged to breed," says the Number One Babbitt, "while those who do not should be taught not to breed. Neither the old deal nor the New Deal will get anywhere until we tackle the fundamental need of race betterment."

This is so simple that it is a wonder any one had ever thought of it before. And, under the existing economic arrangements of which Mr. Babson is one of the leading world doctors, it is quite absurd. Under our existing arrangements, the great problem is a surplus of goods. If you breed people who produce more than they consume, you will have a still larger surplus and, under our existing arrangements, you will have more poverty and more unemployment.

If you are going to maintain our present arrangements, you want to do just the opposite to what Mr. Babson advocates, which is generally a pretty safe thing to do. You want to breed more people who consume more than they produce and less who produce more than they consume. After a while, in the course of a century or birth control, you may have enough non-producers and heavy consumers to set up your surplus.

But if you are going to go in for these heroic measures, why not go in for them whole-heartedly, in a big way and solve the problem completely? The proper thing to do is to breed no producers or consumers either, breed no children at all. Then you will have, in the course of a century at most, a perfect economy, without any problem of surplus, without any Babson or any of the annoying features of civilization. That, indeed, is the only way you will get a well-ordered world such as Mr. Babson imagines in his charts and diagrams.

The trouble with our economy, as Mr. Babson dimly guesses, is not the diagram, not the system, but the people. Get rid of them and you have solved the entire problem.

SHORTAGE

SEVERAL FELLOWS have urged me, with tears in their eyes, to write another column about the celebrities of this town. The say, not wishing to flatter me, that they enjoyed my absurd remarks the other night about every one in the village I could think of. I felt sure that Victoria, for all its culture and superiority, shared that universal instinct which makes people enjoy reading absurdities about other people, particularly if they are celebrated.

But alas, my poor customers, there aren't enough celebrities to work on here. Here, in fact, is the only serious economic shortage of the time. I had to mention everyone who has ever had his name in the newspapers to fill a slim column the other night.

When the town breeds some more celebrities perhaps it may be possible to operate on them again, but that will take another generation, or so. At the moment we are dreadfully short of celebrities about whom absurd things can be said. Our celebrities here are so painfully free of scandal. It is a great mistake and tends to make Victoria very dull.

REAL ISSUES

THIS COLUMN, says a learned correspondent, should not treat so lightly of such issues as the evolutionary theory, which is filling the letters to the editor these days. Such questions, he asserts, are far more important than most of the economic problems discussed here and most of the issues of the federal election campaign.

This is perfectly true. I thought I had made it clear long ago by endeavoring always to discuss here only questions of real import rather than the foolish issues which cloud our politics and puzzle our economists. As a matter of fact, I have chosen to-day when economic and political questions will hardly be discussed at all.

When we get enough sense to master our economic and political system when we learn the obvious art of living sanely on the products of our machines and technology, it will be beneath the dignity of a man to wrangle over such matters. Plenty for all, the same use of leisure, sensible living without excess, will be taken as a matter of course, just as we now make a practice of washing our faces and combing our hair and think nothing of it. All these things will be part of the ordinary routine of life when a few fortunate people already have the leisure to discuss, but to other graver issues. I expect then to see the newspapers crammed with arguments about the best variety of early potatoes. I shall expect elections to be fought on the question whether the delphinium is a superior flower to the rose. Political parties will deliberate at length amid hectic scenes to decide whether they will adopt a plank favoring the Einstein theory of the universe or not.

Now, we shall probably have bitter elections between the group, which wants to open boiled eggs at the small end and those who favor the large end, an issue which, you remember, agitated the same people in Gulliver's Travels. When it comes to a really important question, like the existence of Cadborosaurus or the virtue of traffic signals, it is quite likely civil war will shake the nation.

ROOM TO ARGUE

DO NOT FEAR that, freed of our economic and political problems, we shall lack interest. The human animal will always find something to quarrel about, even if it is only the color of his flowers or his women's hair. I see no reason to expect the arguments over these questions to be less vigorous than the present arguments over such dull and unimportant things as the tariff, the monetary system and the planned economy, which, after all, are unworthy of the intellectual man.

The intellectual men to-day are quarrelling bitterly over relativity, photons, electrons, the architecture of houses and the shape of Mr. Epstein's statues, which, indeed, are worthy subjects. If the majority of people understood what these things were about and were freed from the necessity of making a living, you would have civic commotion over these very issues. Why, the most learned man I ever knew has spent most of his life trying to prove that Shakespeare could not have written the last act of "Julius Caesar." He is an old man now and will die happy content with his full life.

But in the age of leisure it will not be necessary for you to devote yourself to architecture, sculpture, electronics, photons, or Shakespeare. I don't expect the ordinary housewife to devote herself to the great problems of cosmetics and nail polish, the trend in bathing suits and the system of diet which makes Joan Crawford so slim. Yes, indeed, there's a good time coming.

Let us find the good in all instead of saying good-looking women are vain. Some plain-looking ones are jealous. There are lots of beautiful women not vain but have beautiful characters also. If Dorothy Dix had looked would she like those remarks made about her? What she wrote?

TOO MANY MINISTERS

To the Editor:—The trouble with the C.C.F. is too many ministers. In every Commonwealth you see an over minister nominated as a candidate. There is a student missionary for Victoria and a good old war-horse like Guy Sheppard turned down. They are out to gain the United Church vote but when they put up the Rev. Mr. Connell they didn't by any means capture the Anglican vote. Now, as a federal election draws near they have estranged the unemployed by withdrawing their help from the strikers, estranged the youth by turning down the youth candidate, Don Smith, and estranged the women by telling them they are nothing but a bunch of Communists and out of the C.C.F. Hall they must go. The lady president, with her Oxford accent and Christian principles, must resign from an organization which admits Communists and join the C.C.F., although we have always understood she was one of the leading C.C.F.'ers. I know for a fact she traveled around Saanich visiting the women in remote parts, getting their votes for the C.C.F. but the trouble was she mixed religion up with it, and politics and religion will not mix any more than oil and water. The question concerning us working people is who and what are we going to vote for. Not for a minister. There are ministers in this town getting $2,000 per annum, and then the C.C.F. ups and sends for another minister!

Letters will not be re-written for publication. If they are not legible an attempt will be made to read them.

Letters not used will not be returned to the writers.

Letters containing offensive personal reflections will not be printed.

These rules, which henceforth will be carried out absolutely, are designed as much for the protection of our patient readers as for that of The Times.

CAUTION!

The Times will not assume responsibility for the return to the writers of articles sent, in violation of the Correspondence Column or anywhere else in this newspaper, whether they are published or not, unless they have been specially solicited.

BEAUTY

To the Editor:—While Dorothy Dix's articles in your paper are quite interesting I do not agree with her in everything. In this evening's paper she has an article on beauty in women. She says that there are a thousand qualities a woman can have more than a classical profile.

I know beautiful women that have also the fine qualities to go with their beauty. Do people ever think of that? While she says she thinks it's a handicap rather than an asset I certainly do not agree with her there either. I am just an average woman in looks but am not at all jealous of a beautiful-looking woman.

A beautiful woman knows she can choose a husband and continue to attract him after marriage. As for saying it's a tragedy to a woman when her beauty has faded isn't always true in many cases, as some women are too sensible to let that worry them and find joy in giving service to others, even service to some who have envied them.

stously (by chance). There is not a dispassionate scientist, independent of traditionalism who deny the certainty of manifest evolution. Such renowned men as Dr. R. A. Millikan, Sir Francis Younghusband, Dr. J. S. Plaskett and others, have publicly stated that science is being compelled to draw nearer to the spiritual side to find causation, and more and more exponents of true religion and true science, are being forced to recognize that the twin are inseparable counterparts to a unit, and that neither of the branches can ignore the other and be comprehensively understood.

Revelations represent the invisible cause; on the other hand, evolution, its counterpart, represents the visible effect or the manifest, physical phenomenon. Traditionalists assert that the widespread teachings of evolution corrupt morals, and that it indirectly is the cause of modern delinquency. Knowledge itself never corrupts; rather, on the contrary, united with wisdom, knowledge enlightens and uplifts character, but ignorance, which is Public Enemy No. 1, and the parent of all crime, is, and has been, the chief factor of all wrong doing, and the scriptures teach, "My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge; because thou has rejected knowledge I also will reject thee, and etc." Hos. iv. 6.

Traditionalists (fundamentalists) have ever attempted to stay progress, for it was by and through ignorance that saints were martyred; also the crucifixion of Jesus. Moreover, Columbus was ridiculed, astronomy was disdained, and the claim that the earth was a globe was jeered at. How can it be possible, they scoffed, for people, animals and trees to stay on earth with heads pointing downward at the antipodes? Furthermore, traditionalists made the very same charge, viz.: that these scientific findings corrupted morals and were contrary to the scriptures. So they clamored away with such heresy which overturns established beliefs.

A knowledge of evolution has no more corrupting effect on morals than the facts pertaining to the law of gravity, or any other facts or laws of nature. Material evolution accepts the theory of the casual or accidental, whereas Bible evolutionists witness creation by design of the omnipresent Creator, beginning in Genesis and culminating in the book of Revelations—the prophesied, "Divine event."

OUR WEST COAST

To the Editor:—Aklavik, at the mouth of the Mackenzie River, over one thousand miles north of Edmonton, has a mail service once a week. Traffic on the west coast of Vancouver Island, about one hundred miles from Vancouver, receives mail once in ten days.

In the last twenty-five years the greatest war of history has been fought, ten millions were slain, the map of the world has been altered, Russia has risen from the position of being one of the most backward countries in the world to one of the foremost, and during it all the province of British Columbia has been building a road twelve miles long, from Ucluelet to Long Beach.

Certainly the people in charge of affairs in this province have very little to be proud of. Approximately one-quarter of this island was presented, tax-free and gratis with a little hand-out of seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars, to Dunsinuir for building a dinky little railroad from Victoria to Nanaimo, and ever since that time most of the outlay for public works has been expended on that piece of land.

The rest of the island not only has no roads worth speaking of, but it has not even an adequate boat service. The C.P.R. has a monopoly of transportation on the West Coast and pleases itself as to what kind of service it gives the residents, and also as to the freight charges.

When the United States adopted the slogan of "Fifty-four Forty or Fight," it might have been a good thing if they had stayed with it. In that case there would not have been so many people to-day living in a condition bordering upon medieval barbarism.

However, this country shall not always remain in this condition. If the people who handle the affairs of this province have sunk into a state of apathy and imbecility, then it remains for some more virile people to take charge of affairs.

By the way the authorities allow the Japanese and Chinese to enter 1216 into the country it looks as though they desire this to be a Japanese or Chinese colony. But it is very doubtful that the United States will ever let that come to pass.

In order to clear up any misconception that may arise, I should like to state that the writer is not an American, but was born and raised in eastern Canada and has resided all his life in Canada, but I have seen the other provinces develop and expand and prosper, while this province remains hidebound, not able to adopt modern methods, not able to adapt itself to modern conditions, unable to learn from past experiences of other people and provinces.

In conclusion, I should advise those of my readers who can afford the trip to take a run up the West Coast and look it over and compare what has been done here during the last forty years since the first settlers came here, with the thousands of miles on the continent that have been reclaimed from its primitive state.

SUNSHINE CAMP

To the Editor:—The Fred Landsberg Sunshine Camp, for mothers and children of underprivileged families, is carrying out a splendid work that is worthy of the kind support of the charitable-minded citizens of Victoria and district.

This being an endeavor that is conducted without the help of civic funds, but being entirely supported by private voluntary contributions, I would like the privilege of asking that its financial operating needs be recommended and supported by Victoria.

Take Vacation From Primping

Carol Lombard, movie star, combines bangs with roll curls to form a simple coiffure.

By ALICIA HART

Hair styles that you can sleek back and forget about after each swim or those that can be twisted into place and finished with a soft, home-made curl here and there are ideal for active women and for girls who hate to spend hot summer afternoons under a drying machine. Besides, since they have a casual air about them, they tend to make you look cooler.

If your hair is bobbed, it's an excellent idea to have it cut even shorter, get a rather tight permanent and then wear ringlets that go in for specific direction. You need to spend practically no time at all arranging this young schoolboy type of coiffure and, providing your features are rather regular, you'll find it youthful and becoming.

If you must wear your hair in a more feminine fashion, get a permanent only on the ends, leave the top plain and make soft, curled-around-the-ear ringlets on the sides, across the back and perhaps on one side of the forehead. Naturally curly locks are easier to manage, of course, and are pretty when swept backward from the brow and over the ears, and allowed to blow free across the back of the neck.

Remember that cleanliness is one of the first requisites of any becoming coiffure. Frequent shampoos not only give your tresses a glossy sheen, but make them easier to manage. If you expect to vacation in some remote spot where hot water is at a premium, take along a large bottle of one of the very effective soaps

Cowichan-Five C's Cricket Winners

Defeat Incogs and Victoria Handily in Saturday Cricket Games; Albions Beat Victoria in Friendly

Smart Cowichan bowling proved too much for the numerically weak Incogs in their Victoria and District Cricket Association League match at Duncan, Saturday and the up-island team, showing fair strength at bat, beat the local team handily. In the other league fixture at Beacon Hill Five C's defeated Victoria by sixty-five runs and five wickets.

A friendly game between a Victoria Club team and the Albions resulted in a win for the latter.

Leighton and Gregory were in excellent bowling form as they took four wickets apiece in seven overs for twenty-two and twenty-nine runs respectively in the Cowichan-Incogs fixture. Godfrey Wenman, with twenty-two and his brother Reg with twelve, were the only members of the ten-man team who reached double figures for the local side.

Twite and Denny scored thirty-two and thirty respectively, while Considine added twenty-two towards the Cowichan total of 109.

PAYNE HIGH BAT

George Payne starred in the batting lists for the Five C's as they defeated the Victoria Club. He put up forty-seven and carried his bat, while Eric Qualton added thirty-eight and Griffin and Adie both reached double figures. Godard and Wilkinson, with twenty-three and twenty-two respectively, were the only Victoria players to reach double figures.

Low scores featured the Victoria-Albions friendly, the final totals being 55 for the former to the latter's 72. Scores follow:

MOSS TAKES THIRD PLACE

Victoria Swimmer Finishes Behind Curran and Byers in B.C. Title Event

Vancouver, B.C., July 29.—Rough, choppy water and the swell of a passing steamship caused the postponement of the women's three-meter diving event, last number on the programme, and left the Crystal Clubs of Seattle and Vancouver deduced at thirty-eight points apiece in the Pacific Coast International outdoor swimming championships at Dundarave Saturday.

No records were broken as the sun-tanned young swimmers thrashed through the sixty-three degree water in quest of British Columbia and Pacific Coast aquatic laurels. Major upset of the day came in the deposition of diving champion "Chuck" Redding, Seattle, by fifteen-year-old Geo. Athlans, Vancouver.

Crysal Club swimmers, Seattle, tied the count with their Canadian neighbors when, led by husky George Per-

RIDLEY ELEVEN BEATS VERNON

Vernon, July 29.—The touring Ridley College cricket eleven defeated the Vernon City team here, Saturday, in an exhibition cricket match by 150 for eight wickets (declared) to Vernon's 85, all out.

The match was played during an almost incessant downpour of rain, which made good performance in the field most difficult.

GIRL AIR TOURIST FINDS SKY ROAD TO ADVENTURE

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

CLAUDIA CRANSTON, author, just back from a twenty-thousand-mile pan-American tour by air, reports that while the old idea of distance is dead as a door-nail, adventure certainly is not.

Claudia Cranston

"I feel as if I could reach out my hand and touch Paris and all those formerly far points in South and Central America and even the little islands," Miss Cranston admitted, adding quickly, "but if anybody thinks that things don't happen to the traveler any more, just because the world has shrunk, let me tell him.

"There was the night, for instance, in the middle of Haiti, where the natives danced all night around my shack with torches shouting and laughing. They'd never seen a white woman before—and a mulatto who could speak English assured me that they liked me. Well, I hope so, but it was hard to tell. I'd have to imagine what they'd have done if they hadn't liked me. Did I go to sleep? Yes, I did, because I was tired. But I didn't touch anything to eat or drink."

Miss Cranston became an air tourist partly to get writing material, and partly because she just naturally likes to go places and see things. Ever since she came out of the dot on the map that is Winnsboro, Tex., she has been traipsing off here and there whenever the mood overtakes her or she happens to have enough money saved up.

EVENING CLOTHES IN JUNGLE

This time she thought she might as well prove something if there was anything to prove, so she took along fifty-five pounds of luggage—that's what an air tourist is allowed on this trip—and managed to dress like a real lady throughout.

used to destroy the canoes of the Indians.

IN AMAZON JUNGLE

Miss Cranston went to Manaus, 1,000 miles in the jungle up the Amazon. That was built up during a rubber boom, with magnificent mansions now grown over with jungle creepers and boa constrictors and a jeweled and glittering opera house to which expensive grand opera companies were brought from Europe.

"One of the most thrilling moments I had," the dark-eyed Miss Cranston related, "was at Natal on the coast of Brazil. There I saw the mail plane taking off for Africa—it goes three times a week—and I suddenly realized that next day at the same time that I'd be in the jungle, that plane would have reached its destination in Africa. It made me shudder then ever of one thing—we are so close together now that it's the height of folly to talk about nations. If we don't hang together, we shall certainly hang separately, and mightily quick, too."

OVER ANDES BY AIR

Her most theatrical flight, Miss Cranston things, was across the Andes. On this trip the plane goes up 15,000 feet, and even so, must go through the mountain passes, with the wings of the plane seeming as if they were flying off a piece of the mountain side of the peak.

"Radio messages came to the plane every fifteen minutes to let the pilot know what was ahead and the operator sent messages that often, too," she explained. "On one side, she said, 'On the other, bright sun shows on the clouds and the snow was falling, peak of the Andes.'"

Miss Cranston was away four months and flying all the time. She insists now that she will never travel the snow that covered the highest any other way if she can help it.

Oil Officials To Be Questioned

Los Angeles and San Francisco officials of the Union Oil Company and of the Shell Oil Company will be brought next week in Vancouver before Mr. Justice M. A. MacDonald's commission investigating oil, gasoline and coal prices in British Columbia to be questioned on details of costs of production and distribution.

C. H. O'Halloran, commission counsel, returned to Victoria for the weekend and said that the commission would devote all of next week to these two oil companies, after which the inquiry would adjourn for summer vacation until September 3, when it will resume at Fernie, B.C.

Mixed Foursomes Final Is Gained

To reach this stage the former defeated Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Matthews 5 and 4, while the latter defeated Mr. and Mrs. H. O. English 3 and 2.

The finalists will arrange to play as soon as it is convenient.

Canada Must Trust To New Liberalism

Will Meet Problems As They Arise By Moulding Policies To Face Conditions, Say Saanich Liberal Picnic Speakers

Canada will indict the Bennett administration on three major counts when it goes to the polls this fall, said Dugald Donaghy, K.C., of Vancouver, who addressed the Saanich Liberal Association annual picnic at Beaver Lake Saturday.

Mr. Bennett and his party would be charged first that they had failed to carry out their promise of 1930 to restore prosperity, said the speaker.

The second count would be the failure of Mr. Bennett to put every unemployed man to work as he had said he would do.

Thirdly, the present administration had increased the national debt and had guaranteed $50,000,000 loan to the C.F.R., which remained unpaid.

Mr. Donaghy declared the Conservatives had committed the crime of acute nationalism. They had restricted trade by raising the tariffs and the result was Canada had been driven down from fifth to eleventh in her position among the great trading nations of the world.

"Mr. Bennett has failed to blast his way into the markets of the world," the speaker charged.

His latest attempt at blasting had been directed toward Japan. British Columbia was suffering directly from this piece of work with most of its markets in Japan wiped out by tariffs.

The policy of storing up surplus wheat supplies also came in for severe criticism. Refusal to sell wheat in England at less than a stipulated price, had driven English buyers to Argentina and Australia. The cost of these economic manoeuvres was added to the Canadian taxpayers and a bad feeling toward Canadians had been created in the United Kingdom.

Dealing with the futile unemployment policy of the government, Mr. Donaghy said the million and a quarter people now on relief would not soon forget the unfulfilled promise of the Prime Minister to put every man to work, nor the way in which morale had been undermined by sending men to relief camps.

To survive, said Mr. Donaghy, Canada must place its trust in a new Liberalism.

"There is but this one opening left to us," he said. "Liberalism has always met the new sociological problems by moulding its policies to meet and remedy situations as they arise."

HOW B.C. IS AFFECTED

Blame for much of B.C.'s present financial trouble was laid at the federal tariff policies by Alan Chambers, Liberal candidate in Nanaimo, federal riding.

In 1933, he cited, B.C. bought $22,000,000 worth of goods from eastern Canada. The east purchased but $14,000,000 worth from this province. This was an adverse balance in one year of $8,000,000. Over the five years ending in 1933 the adverse balance was something like a quarter of a billion dollars.

"We realize, of course, that British Columbia must sell its goods on world markets. We also want to see British Columbia support eastern industries by buying there when it can. But the stupid trading policies of the Bennett government have denied us the privilege of selling our own goods to advantage. In other words, we cannot regain prosperity by artificial means. The restrictions that are shutting out business and closing the channels of trade must be removed. Then we can find the true road to recovery," he said.

The Liberal party, said Mr. Chambers, had a new outlook to meet the emergency conditions of the present time. This new Liberalism was designed to meet the issues now at stake.

"The Liberal party has ever been found willing to mould itself to changing conditions and will not be found wanting after it is returned to power in the next federal election," he concluded.

Track and aquatic sports were held and refreshments served. The committee in charge consisted of: O. D. Atkinson, J. Williams, P. Alexander, T. Ambrose, W. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. R. Noble and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Bell.

Bellingham, July 28.—Professional golfers from British Columbia and Washington competed here yesterday in a feature match held as a preliminary to the Washington State open golf tournament, with the American team winning by one point.

ORGANIZER of
NATIONAL ATHLETICS

ALMOST seventy-five years ago, a Bohemian named Dr. Mikoslav Tyra formed classes in gymnastics that to-day have grown into a strong national athletic organization in Czechoslovakia and wherever Czechs live in other parts of the world. It is called the Sokol, which regularly displays the athletic talent of its members at public meets.

Sokol is a Czech word meaning "falcon," the bird that the Czechs looked up to as their guide to national freedom. To-day, with falcon feathers in their small, round caps, the young Czech athletes meet at Sokols similar to Olympic Games of other countries. Every six years the great national Sokol is held in Praha, or Prague, and similar Sokols are held in other parts of the world.

Czechoslovakia has issued stamps honoring this organization, and among these are two printed in 1933 on the centenary of Dr. Tyra's birth.

GASOLINE TO STOP AND GO—

Today's starting, shifting and accelerating waste your money—if your gasoline hasn't these 3 Kinds of Power

It is not difficult to make a gasoline that merely STARTS quickly... or one that PULLS HARD... or one that gives you more MILEAGE on steady running.

But your pocketbook would be hard hit if your gasoline did only ONE of these important jobs well.

The big engineering job is to make a gasoline that has ALL THREE of these kinds of power... and has them in PERFECT BALANCE!

Today such a gasoline has been perfected. It is the FIRST truly balanced gasoline. It is called "Super-Shell."

It is another big achievement by the Shell engineers whose research helped to pave the way for the high-compression head principle used in 98% of today's cars.

With 3 kinds of power in perfect balance, Super-Shell saves you money 3 ways. Stop today at one of the 30,000 neighborly Shell stations from Coast to Coast.

STARTING—With its even volatility, Super-Shell can save up to a cupful of gasoline on every "cold" start. Even on sizzling days, your engine is relatively "cold" when not running.

SHIFTING—Super-Shell can save up to a cupful in 10 minutes of hard pulling, or rapid accelerating.

RUNNING—With its abundant heat units, Super-Shell can save up to a cupful of gasoline in every hour of steady running, motorists report.

CHAPTER XXVI

I got little sleep that night. My officers were constantly coming to me with reports. From these I learned, what was of the greatest importance to me, the temper of the crew. None was adverse to taking the Soving, but there was a divergence of opinion as to what we should do thereafter. A few wanted to be landed on Thorian soil, so that they could make their way back to their homes; the majority was enthusiastic about plundering merchant ships; the idea of exploring the unknown waters of Amor filled most of them with fear; some were averse to restoring the Vepjan prisoners to their country; and there was an active and extremely vocal minority that insisted that the command of the vessel should be placed in the hands of Thorian. In this I could see the hand of Kord even before they told me that the suggestion had come from the cotier that formed his following.

"But there are fully a 100," said Gamfor, "upon whose loyalty you may depend. These have accepted you as their leaders, and they will follow you and obey your commands."

"Arm these," I directed, "and place all others below deck until after we have taken the Soving. How about the klan? They took no part in the mutiny. Are they for or against us?"

Kiron laughed. "They received no orders one way or the other," he explained. "They have no initiative. Unless they are motivated by such primitive instincts as hunger, love, or hate, they do nothing without orders from a superior."

"And they don't care who their master is," interpreted Zog. "They serve loyally enough until their master dies, or sells them, or gives them away, or is overthrown; then they transfer the same loyalty to a new master."

"They have been told that you are their new master," said Kamlot, "and they will obey you."

As there were only five of the Vrdmen aboard the Soving, I had not been greatly exercised about their attitude; but I was glad to learn that they would not be antagonistic.

At the twentieth hour I ordered the hundred upon whom we could depend assembled and held in the lower deck house, the others having all been confined below earlier in the night. In the accomplishment of which a second mutiny was averted only by the fact that all the men had been previously disarmed except the loyal Soldiers of Liberty.

All during the night we had been gradually gaining upon the unsuspecting Soving until now we were a 100 yards astern of her, slightly astern. Across our starboard bow I could see her looming darkly in the mysterious nocturnal points of light, her watch dimly visible upon her deck.

Closer and closer the Soving crept toward her prey. A Soldier of Liberty, who had once been an officer in the Thorian navy, was at the wheel; no one was on deck but the members of the watch; in the lower deck house 100 men were huddled waiting for the command to board. I stood beside Honan in the chart room (he was to command the Soving while I led the boarding party), my eyes were upon the strange Amoritan chronometer. I spoke a word to him and he moved a lever. The Soving crept a little closer to the Soving. Then Honan whispered an order to the helmsman and we closed in upon our prey.

I hastened down the companionway to the main deck and gave the signal to Kamlot standing in the doorway of the deck house. The two ships were close now and almost abreast. The sea was calm; only a gentle swell raised and lowered the softly gliding ships. Now we were so close that a man could step across the intervening space from the deck of one ship to that of the other.

The officer of the watch aboard the Soving halted us. "What are you about?" he demanded. "Sheer off, there!"

For answer I ran across the deck of the Soving and leaped aboard the other ship, 100 silent men following in my wake. There was no shouting and little noise—only the shuffling of sandaled feet and the subdued clank of arms.

Behind us the grappling hooks were thrown over the rail of the Soving. Every man had been instructed as to the part he was to play.

Leaving Kamlot in command on the main deck, I ran to the tower deck with a dozen men, while Kiron led a score of fighting men to the second deck where most of the officers were gathered.

Before the officer of the watch could gather his scattered wits, I had him covered with a pistol. "Keep quiet," I whispered, "and you will not be harmed." My plan was to take as many of them as possible before a general alarm could be sounded and thus minimize the necessity for bloodshed; therefore, the need for silence. I turned him over to one of my men after disarming him; and then I sought the captain, while two of my detachment attended to the helmsman.

I found the officer for whom I sought reaching for his weapons. He had been awakened by the unavailing noise of the boarding party, and, suspecting that something was amiss, had ordered the lights in his cabin.

I was upon him as he raised his pistol, and struck it from his hand before he could fire; but he stepped back with his sword on guard, and thus we stood facing one another for a moment.

"Surrender," I told him, "and you will not be harmed."

"Who are you?" he demanded, "and where do you come from?"

"I was a prisoner on board the Soving," I replied, "but now I command her. If you wish to avoid bloodshed, come out on deck with me and give the command to surrender."

"And then what?" he demanded. "Why have you boarded us if not to kill?"

"To take off provisions, weapons, and the Vepjan prisoners," I explained.

Suddenly the hissing staccato of pistol fire came up to us from the deck below.

"I thought there was to be no killing," he snapped.

"If you want to stop it, get out there and give the command to surrender," I replied.

"I don't believe you," he cried. "It's a trick," and he came at me with his sword.

I did not wish to shoot him down in cold blood, and so I met his attack with my own blade. The advantage was on his side in the matter of skill; for I had not yet fully accustomed myself to the use of the Amoritan sword; but I had an advantage in strength and reach and in some tricks of German swordplay that I had learned while I was in Germany.

The Amoritan sword is primarily a cutting weapon. Its weight near the tip making it particularly effective for this method of attack, though it lessens its effectiveness in parrying thrusts, rendering it rather a sluggish defensive weapon. I therefore found myself facing a savage cutting attack against which I had difficulty in defending myself. The officer was an active man and skilful with the sword. Being experienced, it did not take him long to discover that I was a novice, with the result that he pressed his advantage viciously, so that I soon regretted my masculinity in not retreating to my pistol before the encounter began; but it was too late now—the fellow kept me so busy that I had no opportunity to draw the weapon.

Ask Equality In Women's Status

London (Special Correspondence).—Women with equally determined views on justice and their rights have been sharing their views in London.

They are the delegates from all parts of the Empire for the British Commonwealth League Conference.

One of their first acts was to request that a deputation be sent to the Prime Minister asking him to instruct members of the British delegation to the League of Nations to give support to an international treaty for equality of women's status.

A demand was also made that the principle of equality for women should be included in the Indian franchise proposals.

LOVE LANGUAGE OF FANS
Over the banqueting hall of the Mansion House in the City of London the other night there stole an atmosphere of old-world romance, telling of the secret signals of lovers and of mysterious codes understood only by those who were young thirty, forty, perhaps fifty years ago.

For on that night the Lord Mayor dined with the Worshipful Company of Fanmakers.

More than 200 years ago Queen Anne granted the Fanmakers Company a charter. But Queen Anne is dead, and fan making appears to be suffering an unfortunate decline.

Once upon a time every enterprising young woman knew what it was to carry her fan in the left hand in a certain way it meant "Yes, it would be rather nice to make your acquaintance."

On the other hand, a slow fanning was a sinister sign. It meant "Keep off the grass—I have a big, burly, strong-armed husband."

Fanning vigorously was a particularly cheering omen interpreted in some quarters as a deliberate confession of affection.

But suddenly, my lady might be seen "twirling" her fan. It was the danger signal "Someone is looking."

GIRLS AND THEIR FUTURES
Fans or no fans, there were some comments on girls and their attitude towards marriage at the annual conference of the Association of Headmistresses at Cambridge.

"I am sure girls of to-day have a much more clearly defined attitude towards marriage than the girls of seven generations ago," said the headmistress of a Bristol school.

"They know what it means to have a clear idea of how to cope with it and the large majority set out to achieve it. The number of marriages is, therefore, steadily increasing."

Discussing careers, this speaker remarked that most girls want training for clerical work, described by some headmistresses as "the secondary schoolgirl's career."

"If only there were not so much of this kind of work, and if only more girls were used for intelligently organized domestic work, for teaching and for the care of children," she pleaded.

WOMAN RIDER SHOWS THE MEN—
A woman was the toast of the International Horse Show in London this year.

She is Lady Wright of Burghage, Wiltshire, who was the only competitor to complete the course of seven different jumps without a fall.

For this she was presented with the British Jumping Challenge Cup. She carried off the second prize as well, competing against some of the best horsemen from the Shires.

DRIVING FAILURES
Ride well they may, but drive so well women cannot, if one judges strictly by the results of the new driving test introduced in England.

The proportions of failures are approximately one in six among women and one in ten amongst men.

Various authorities have suggested that the causes are lack of road sense, misunderstanding of signals and ignorance of the Highway Code.

Certainly some women imagine that their driving knowledge is sufficient when starting, steering and stopping has been accomplished, but according to an official of the Royal Automobile Club there is no confirmation of the theory that women drive with less care than men.

In fact it can be claimed that the number of women involved in motor accidents is much smaller than the number of men.

The failures among women in the Ministry of Transport's test are not surprising, really. The test involves a certain amount of theoretical knowledge in the operation of a car as well as in its practical handling and not many women trouble to learn much that is technical.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

USE OF BERRY AND MINT SYRUPS IS SECRET

By MARY E. DAGUE

Don't you envy the beautiful fare of canned fruit on the grocer's shelves? Well, you can make the same sort of thing at home.

Fruits canned in a syrup made with berry juice in place of water, or colored red with vegetable coloring and flavored with grenadine, are delicious. Other fruits, canned in over flames and boil ten minutes. Pour hot over peaches, peeled and cut in halves with stones removed, packed in hot jars.

You can't fruit just as if it were in a plain syrup—even, hot water bath, or pressure cooker.

If you can't peach or pears in grenadine syrup, add one-half cup grenadine to each cup of plain syrup, and color with red food coloring. If a maraschino cherry is placed in the cavity of each half and the cherry side is placed against the glass, a sumptuous effect is gained.

Pears are delicious canned either in grenadine syrup or mint syrup.

MINT SYRUP

One-third cup mint leaves, 1 1/4 cup sugar, 2-3 cup water, few drops green food coloring.

Add well washed leaves to sugar and crush. Add water and stir until sugar is dissolved. Bring to the boiling point and boil six minutes. Add coloring and strain over fruit packed in jars.

I often put up pineapple in mint syrup, too, and fruits in a spiced vinegar provide a delectable sweet pickle to serve with the main course of dinner or luncheon.

There are many simple tricks in canning that make it possible to vary home-canned fruits at small expense. Preserved ginger added to plain canned pears makes them acceptable to many persons who criticize pears as tasteless. Use pieces of preserved ginger and enough ginger syrup to flavor the plain syrup.

TO-MORROW'S MENU

Luncheon: Croquettes made from soup meat with tomato sauce, frozen mince pineapple salad, chocolate cake, milk, tea.

Spend More Abroad Despite U.S. Repeal

Figures Disclose That United States Tourists Favor Their Former Prohibition Oases More Than Ever

Associated Press
Washington, July 29.—Commerce Department figures disclose that in the first year of repeal, United States tourists increased their expenditures in Canada and Mexico, which were formerly nearby oases.

Total expenditures by United States tourists in 1934 were estimated at $314,000,000, compared with $292,000,000 in 1933. But while there was a $10,000,000 drop in the outlay overseas, tourists spent $19,000,000 more in Canada, and $13,000,000 more in Mexico than during the last year of prohibition.

Amos E. Taylor, official who prepared the report, attributed a $11,000,000 foreign tourist increase in the United States to a 22 per cent jump in the number of Canadian motor cars entering the United States, and 23 per cent increase in the number of aliens admitted "for business, pleasure and transit."

The figures for United States tourist expenditures included $10,000,000 for 429,000 citizens residing permanently abroad and deriving income from this nation. Of that number, however, 247,000 living in Canada were said to derive their principal source of income from farming in the Dominion.

United States tourists spent $120,000,000 in Canada last year, or 38 per cent of the total United States tourist expenditures. Canadian tourists spent $47,000,000 here, a 34 per cent increase over 1933.

NEW LAND MAY BE DISCOVERED

Gen. Nobile, Italian Expert, Foresees Polar Discovery By Soviet Fliers

Associated Press
Moscow, July 29.—Discovery of new land between the North Pole and the North American continent is one of the possibilities of Sigmund Levanefsky's over-the-pole flight to San Francisco, another polar flier said yesterday.

Writing in the newspaper Pravda, General Umberto Nobile, Italian aviator who has made several polar flights, said the existence of land in this region is still an open question.

During his flight of 1926, Nobile said, dense fog and clouds cut off from the occupants of his dirigible the view of the sea over the area where land is thought to be.

"We saw no sign of Harris Land, supposed to extend from the shore of the North American continent to the North Pole," Nobile wrote.

The Italian explorer is now engaged as an expert in the Soviet's programme of dirigible construction.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

COLLEGIANS in the major baseball leagues were rare when Christy Mathewson of Bucknell batted up with the New York Giants at the turn of the century, and today Jack Coombs and Ed Plank of Gettysburg convinced Connie Mack what was to be found on campuses. Baseball scouts have dragged nets through school grounds ever since, and so well have they succeeded that there are thirty-three former rah rah athletes—one more than two for each club—doing nothing but pitching on big-time today. Every big league outfit has a twirler from a seat of higher learning except the red-bellied St. Louis Cardinals, who perhaps watch the school yards closer than any of the others.

The Chicago Cubs lead the outfits in chaps whose curves came with calculus, with four. The Pittsburgh Pirates, Cleveland Indians, Chicago White Sox, and St. Louis Browns have two each, and the Brooklyn Dodgers, Cincinnati Reds, Boston Braves, New York Yankees, Detroit Tigers, and Boston Red Sox two apiece. Tops among them, of course, is Hal Schumacher, the power right-hander of the Giants when the late John McGraw, who managed Mathewson, took from St. Lawrence University before he graduated.

Bill Lee, Tex Carleton, Larry French, and the diminutive southpaw, Roy Henshaw, who between them have accounted for two-thirds of the contests copped by the Cubs as against only half their losses, are college men. Lee registers from Hueyana State, Carleton from Texas Christian, French from California, and Henshaw from Chicago. Waiter Hoyt of the Pirates was a schoolboy wonder from Middlebury when he first joined the Yankees. Jumbo Jim Weaver of the Bucs graduated from Western Kentucky State, and Mac Brown chucked for Iowa.

Cleveland has Oral Hildebrand, an all-America basketball player from Butler; Thornton Lee, a tall left-hander with a fireball, from San Luis Obispo Teachers' College in southern California; and Ralph Winegarner, a versatile chap from Southwestern College. Ted Lyons reported to the White Sox years ago direct from Baylor. Vernon Kennedy went to State Teachers' College of Missouri, and Whitlow Wyatt is a rambling wreck from Georgia Tech. Forest Knicker of the Browns attended Southern Methodist. Pay Thomas was captain-elect of the Southern California football team and a corking good tackle when he was declared a professional due to summer baseball activities. Russ Van Atta is a product of Penn State.

Tom Davis Bridges of the Tigers is 155 pounds of pluck from Tennessee. Elden Auker throws underhanded due to a football injury suffered at Kansas State. Bespectacled Vic Sorrell, educated at Wake Forest, Johnny Broaca of the Yanks also wore those glasses at Yale, where he got a Bachelor of Arts degree, and Johnny Murphy was a roaring Ram at Fordham. George Barnshaw of the blue book and the Dodgers excelled at little Swarthmore, and Watson Clark of Mississippi, who pitched for the Red Sox majored in something or other at St. John's in the midwest, and Gordon Rhodes of the same army was signed by the Yanks before he had finished his course at Utah.

Don Brennan, the Reds' hurled for Georgetown, and Leroy Hermann for St. Bede College. Ben Cantwell of the Braves took commerce at Tennessee, and Huck Betts was an apt scholar at Delaware. The Athletics struck pay dirt when Mack talked Whitley Wilshire out of doing whatever he intended to do upon completing his studies at Indiana. Ray Prim of the Phillies is up from Alabama Poly. Leon Pettit, veteran left-handed recruit of the Washington Senators, obtained that scholarly look at Emporia, Kan. Teachers' College. A high hard one and a hook bopper, but hitters are outmanned. Having had four years of skillful coaching, the varsity man stands the best chance of stepping right into the thick of things and making a go of it. This appears to be particularly true in pitching.

SUMMER HOCKEY

Lake Placid, N.Y., July 29.—Montreal Royals yesterday swept their two-game series with St. Nicholas Club, New York, successfully defending the D'Amico Perpetual Challenge Trophy for summer hockey. Royals downed the New Yorkers at the Arena here 6-3 yesterday after capturing the opening game Saturday night, 5 to 2.

Miss M. Osborne Scores Straight-set Win Over Gussie Raegenar at Victoria Club

Oswald-Weesner Doubles Champs

Towering, good-natured Gene Smith, Berkeley, and seventeen-year-old Margaret Osborne, San Francisco, were crowned Canadian singles tennis champions at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club yesterday afternoon. The finals were a day late in being played owing to rain causing postponement of the deciding matches on Saturday afternoon. A large gallery was on hand yesterday to witness some brilliant play.

Complete list of new national title-holders follows:

Men's singles—Gene Smith, Berkeley.

Women's singles—Margaret Osborne, San Francisco.

Men's doubles—Worth Oswald and Charles Weesner, Berkeley.

Women's doubles—Mrs. Catherine Rose, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Margaret Laird, Glendale.

Mixed doubles—Ray Casey, San Francisco, and Mrs. Margaret Laird, Glendale.

Leading with an 8-6 set and a 4-2 margin in game in the second set, as the result of play Saturday afternoon, Smith, post-graduate and captain of the University of California tennis squad, required little more than half an hour's work on the courts yesterday with Dick Bennett, fellow teammate of the southern variety.

Opening the third set, Bennett appeared headed for his first set victory when he won his own service and after dropping the next took the third and fourth games to lead 3-1.

Smith, however, called on his greater power to break the fifth game, broke through Bennett to win the sixth and won his own service in the seventh to lead four games to three. Bennett came back to take the eighth and broke Smith again in the ninth to gain the margin for the second time, five games to four. The new champion again rallied and victory in the next three games gave him the set and the match, 7-5.

Miss Osborne, holder of the United States national girls' junior title, added another crown to her list when she outdrew and outguessed her fellow-squadwoman, Gussie Raegenar, for a 6-4, 6-2 victory in the women's final. The California miss won the title lifted last year by Caroline Deacon, Vancouver, who was unable to defend it through being in England. Miss Osborne gained the honor of being the first junior to ever win the championship. Miss Osborne was far too steady for her opponent and forced her into error after error in both sets.

GREAT MATCH

Oswald and Weesner played brilliant and crafty tennis to take a marathon five-set battle from Ray Casey, San Francisco, and John Law, Pasadena, favorites for the crown. In the men's doubles final, 10-8, 6-2, 12-10, 7-9, 9-7.

Oswald, holder of the California State singles title, gave a sensational exhibition in this match and his crafty play at the net drew much applause from the gallery. He was given great support by Weesner. The veteran Casey was up to regular form but Law had trouble with his shots all afternoon and tossed away many valuable points by driving into the net.

Bobby Reith Is Manitoba Champ

Winnipeg, July 29.—Bobby Reith won his third Manitoba amateur golf championship in four years Saturday, defeating Dan Kennedy, long-hitting St. Charles star, 1 up in the thirty-six-hole final. Reith was 2 down at the end of the morning round, but the young Assiniboine shotmaker fought back and was down two at the thirty-fourth.

SAINTS TAKE SOCCER CUP

Score Surprise 1 to 0 Win Over Nanaimo In Province Cup Final

Vancouver, July 29.—St. Saviours sprang a surprise by winning the Province Cup final from Nanaimo City, British Columbia's Dominion soccer cup contenders, by a 1 to 0 score here Saturday.

St. Saviours entered senior football fifteen years ago and have been in the finals several times, but this is the first time they have captured the silverware.

The local team can probably credit their win mostly to the brilliant work of Strong, their goalie, and to the fact that Hunter was able to keep "Daisy" Waugh, Nanaimo's star forward, efficiently checked. This kept the Islanders' front line from using its usual perfect combination work.

The Saints scored their goal about ten minutes after the start. Bradbury nodded a ball back to Murray West, who was coming in fast, and the latter shot from five yards outside the penalty area, giving Inkster no chance to save.

Nanaimo put on the pressure then, but could not get the leather by Strong, although they tried shots from every direction.

CHANGE SIDE

After the interval, the Islanders brought George West on in place of Kulal, and Boyd for McGregor. This put a little fresh life into the game, but Strong still managed to keep his goal clear.

At the other end, Bradbury and Murdoch combined and got the ball by Inkster, but the referee called the goal offside.

Rys then came on in place of Murray West for St. Saviours. With the shock of the field, the chances looked better for Nanaimo, but the local team put everything they had into holding their small lead.

"Daisy" Waugh tripped over Ernie Bradbury's foot in the penalty area and had to be carried from the field just before the final whistle. No penalty was given.

Teams: Nanaimo—Inkster; Gavin, Edmunds; McGregor, Knight, Thompson; English, Kulal, Waugh, Grey, Sandland, Spares, O. West, Boyd and Watson.

St. Saviours—Strong; W. Ross, Lawrie, O. Ross, Hunter, Hendry, Murdoch, Murray West, E. Bradbury, G. Bradbury, Platt, Sparr, Rys.

Victoria Softball Teams Take Games

In exhibition softball games played at the Bullen Park yesterday, Kreges Cardinals and the Live Wires scored victories over the Nanaimo Hereward Athletics, visiting women's squad. Live Wires won 14 to 12, and Kreges marked up a 7 to 1 decision.

new champions ran away with the second.

Mrs. Laird shared in her second victory in the women's doubles, when she partnered with Mrs. Rose to defeat Gussie Raegenar and Eleanor Johnson. The honor was introduced to the gallery and players by H. B. Witter, president of the Victoria Club.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

In ancient days the Japanese had a dread of any location where death had taken place. Hence, when a ruler died, they always removed the capital to another place. In addition, the location of the capital was often changed several times during a single reign for various reasons, such as superstition or a royal whim.

Japan, likewise, had no metropolis and the court moved about from town to town and about the five home provinces. In the early eighteenth century, during the reign of the Empress Gemmei, Nara was selected as the first permanent capital of the empire. It remained, except for brief periods, the imperial residence for seventy-five years. It was moved by Kwammu to Nagaoka and then again shortly afterward in 794 to the city of Kyoto where it remained until 1868. In that year Yedo was selected as the new Japanese capital. Yedo was subsequently known as Tokyo.

The so-called French telephone was invented by Robert G. Brown, American electrical engineer, soon after Bell made his first successful telephone. It happened that Brown went to France to install the first telephone exchange in Paris and there used the hand sets of his own invention. From this use that particular type of telephone came known as the French telephone—a name which clings to it even to-day.

Strangely enough, although popular in France, the French phone only in recent years has been developed to the same point of efficiency as that of other types.

BUD DONOVAN COMPLIMENTED

Young Canadian Golfer Has Great Future, In Opinion Of Joyce Wethered

Toronto, July 29.—Bud Donovan, twenty-one-year-old Winnipeg amateur, who has climbed to within an ace of the top in Canadian golfing circles this year, is bound to be a great golfer.

This opinion comes from none other than Miss Joyce Wethered, former British titleist, and one of the finest women golfers in the world to-day.

Miss Wethered teamed with Donovan to defeat Ada Mackenzie, former Canadian champion, and C. Ross "Sandy" Somerville, Canadian amateur champion, 7 up in an exhibition match at St. Andrew's Club here Saturday.

Miss Wethered led the field with a 75 on the par 70 course. Somerville came next with a 76, Donovan came in with 78, while Miss Mackenzie had an 84.

In a few brief moments before she caught her train, Miss Wethered paid tribute to the style and steadiness of young Donovan.

"He has a marvellous swing, somewhat typical of the American golfer. I think he is bound to do well," she said.

Miss Wethered was impressed, in fact, with the playing of Miss Mackenzie and Somerville. Of Donovan, who tied second against a field which included such stars as Walter Hagen in the General Brock open, she was enthusiastic.

Steadiness, confidence and ability marked Miss Wethered's play. She exhibited her well-known style of driving on her toes, and gave ample evidence that it got results.

CANUCK CREWS OUTSTANDING

All Major Honors In Canadian Henley Regatta Are Kept At Home

Port Dalhousie, Ont., July 29.—After years of repeatedly bowing to United States invaders, Canadian oarsmen held their head high to-day on the strength of a smashing international victory in the fifty-third Royal Canadian Henley regatta. Every major prize of the historic rowing carnival which ended here Saturday was kept by the home forces.

Bob Hunter's great Hamilton Leander eight clinched the Canadian drive by defeating New York Athletic Club, U.S. national champions, in a thrilling battle by half a length.

This topped the international part of Henley's spectacle, the crowd of 5,000 roaring its approval as the scarlet Leanders flashed across the finish line for their third consecutive Canadian championship in the event, but it was only a part of the regatta's major production.

GREAT TRIUMPH Overshadowing all else was the brilliant triumph of Leanders over New York in the Ned Hanlan Memorial Cup event with Buffalo Westsides and Detroit Boat Club chasing the two national champions. Hamilton's time of seven minutes 14.4 seconds was regarded as excellent in the face of a light wind.

Campbell's single sculls triumph was decisive enough to be convincing, although the young champion waded off his course, fouled a few buoys and might have been beaten had not Coulson been sporting enough to slow up while his clubmate was in difficulties. Johnny and Chuck started out alone in the singles final, the veteran Johnny Durnan, Toronto Dons, scratching his entry at the last minute.

Campbell had too much power ever to be challenged. He gradually opened up a lead that was more than two open lengths at the finish. He was fresh and happy—undisputed monarch of North American amateur scullers. His time was comparatively slow—7:24.8.

The Deaking Monty Butler and his doubles partner, Johnny Dickinson of Vancouver, proved to be bears for work. They raced five times Friday and Saturday and won four. Friday Butler won the junior 140-pound singles and the two captured the doubles in the same division.

They moved up to senior company Saturday and conquered the field just as easily. Butler first of all established himself as the best lightweight singles sculler in Canada by defeating Jack Flavell, Argos, in the senior 140-pound race. Flavell won the junior singles previously.

A STIFF RACE It was a hard race for the Vancouver boy. A half-mile from the finish he trailed Flavell by a half-length, but his sprint was unbeatable. The crowd roared as he drove his shell in front in the last 200 yards and won by about ten feet in 9:16.4.

Fred Burns, Argos, was third. The British Columbians teamed to win the senior 140-pound doubles from a veteran Dons club pair, A. Green and L. Stansfield. It was easy, since the Toronto scullers had been out of competition for three years.

Butler and Dickinson won by about ten lengths after loafing over the greater part of the course.

Then the westerners pushed a great thing a little too far, entering the senior doubles where they faced Bill Reid and Chuck Campbell, Argos, and Edwin Konrad and L. Wendel, Westsides. Butler and Dickinson were too tired to do themselves justice here and the Argonaut duo won in 8:38 from Buffalo with the juniors well back.

Great Britain Captures Doubles To Retain Davis Cup

Hughes-Tuckey In Five-set Victory Over U.S. Stars

Register Surprise Win Over Allison and Van Ryn 6-2, 1-6, 6-8, 6-3, 6-3

Third Straight Win for Britons

Canadian Press
Wimbledon, Eng., July 29.—Winning the doubles match for their third straight victory, Great Britain to-day successfully defended the Davis Cup against the challengers from the United States. To-morrow's two final singles matches cannot affect the result.

Britain won the coveted trophy, emblematic of the world's tennis supremacy, for the third straight time when the new doubles combination of George Patrick Hughes and C. R. D. Tuckey defeated Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, 6-2, 1-6, 6-8, 6-3, 6-3.

Previously H. W. "Bunny" Austin had beaten Allison and Fred Perry had defeated Donald Budge for the initial English victories.

SURPRISE VICTORY

To-day's triumph was all the more pleasing to the defenders, as it was the first time Hughes and Tuckey had paired in cup competition, the latter youngster playing in Davis Cup fray for the first time. His great work at the net was a big factor in the decision.

The challengers had been confident of getting at least the doubles match, instead they quickly found they were up against a most formidable pair. Tuckey displayed a bounding serve that proved a perfect complement to his partner's forecourt game, and when he went to the net he more than held his own.

The Britons raced through the first set with ease, but the Americans settled down to take the second and third with good volleying and serving. The match was squared by the British in the fourth, and they came on again to take the fifth, the match, and make sure of the cup.

The first six games of the fourth set followed service, and then the Britons ran through the next three games with the loss of only three points to win the set. Almost every one of the Britons' shots in the fifth set were the too-hot-to-handle kind.

SINGLES TO-MORROW

Two singles matches remain to complete the series. They will be played to-morrow with Budge opposing Austin and Perry going against Allison. As the result of England's victory to-day, however, these matches are reduced to an exhibition status.

Allison served first and quickly won a love game as the Britons knocked three out and netted once. Tuckey came back and served two aces to win the twice deuced second game and then the Britons broke Van Ryn in another deuced game as the Americans netted the last three points.

Allison and Van Ryn broke Hughes' easy sliced delivery in the fourth game by knocking everything at Tuckey. The Britons then broke Allison to take a 3-2 lead as Tuckey smashed two placements between the Americans.

Tuckey served powerfully to win the four-times deuced sixth game. The Britons broke the luckless Van Ryn again in the seventh game as the Philadelphia continued to net everything. England went out behind Hughes' delivery as he smashed the final point for a placement, drawing tremendous applause.

Allison and Van Ryn won the second set, 6-1, squaring the match.

SECOND SET

The Americans jumped to 3-0 lead in the second set as they broke Tuckey with a withering net game. Allison increased his side's lead to 6-0, winning his service with the loss of only one point as the Britons netted two of his blistering serves.

Tuckey's cannonball delivery finally gave England a game—the sixth—which was deuced and lost by the Americans when Van Ryn and Allison, respectively, netted and outed the last two points. The Americans, however, went out on Van Ryn's service with the loss of a point when Allison's thrust for a placement missed the line.

Hughes opened the third set by serving a love game and then the Britons broke through Allison at deuce as Van Ryn again netted. The Britons moved into a 3-0 lead as Tuckey whizzed across a great love game. Van Ryn won the fourth game on service, but Hughes also held to send England ahead 4-1. The pace slowed up slightly and the next three games went on serve with the Britons ahead 5-3.

THIRD SET

The American team won the third set, 8-6, and led two sets to one. The Americans finally broke Hughes at deuce in the ninth game, winning the last two points by blasting returns at his shotops as he tried to reach the net.

Allison held his delivery in the tenth to square the set. Van Ryn scored the last two points with great smashes at the net as Allison's steaming shots forced weak returns. Hughes, at 4-3, as Hughes held his service at love. Two of Tuckey's smashes were good for points and Allison accounted for the other two with two drives that went outside.

The Britons broke Van Ryn with the loss of only two points in the eighth game as a footfault was called on Johnny for the final point after he had served a clean ace.

Hughes and Tuckey closed out the set in the ninth game as Tuckey held his service at 4-1. Van Ryn, unsettled by the decision that had gone against him, knocked the last three points right into the Britons' laps, overdriving the baseline on them all.

FIFTH SET

The Britons broke Allison, 4-2, at the start of the fifth set as Hughes scored with three great kills at the net.

Tuckey, holding his own service, made it 2-0 at love when the Americans fell victim to Hughes' smashes even when they did succeed in getting a racquet on Tuckey's serves.

Van Ryn held his own service to win the deuced third game, winning out after the Britons had overcome a 4-0 love deficit.

Hughes made the score in games 3-1 as he won the deuced fourth game. Allison held his own delivery in the fifth game, winning the last two points with cannonballs.

Allison twice missed up simple smashes at the net in the sixth game which Tuckey won at 4-1 on his own service.

Van Ryn held his own service, also at 4-1, going in to smash the last two points at Tuckey's feet and the British lead was four games to three.

Hughes exploded another love game to give the Britons a 5-3 lead. The Americans returned only one of his terrific serves and Tuckey killed that one without further argument.

Allison, after netting two in a row, let the score go to 15-40 against the Americans in the last game and then double-faulted into the net to end the match on the weakest possible note.

SONS LOSE TO EAGLES NINE

Proudlove Hurls Birdmen to 5 to 1 Baseball Victory; Game To-night

Eagles, Victoria Senior Baseball League nine Saturday afternoon defeated the Sons of Canada 5 to 1 at the Athletic Park. Jimmy Proudlove, ace pitcher for the birdmen held the Sons to three hits, one of which was a two-bagger, by Tommy Restall, club manager.

With Alec Dick on the mound for the Sons the feathered squad were able to get eleven base knocks, including an extra-base clout by Henry Woodford, backstop.

The first run of the game was made by the Eagles in the third inning, and in the fifth stanza the winners got two more. In the sixth frame the birdmen garnered their final two runs.

A complete shutout was prevented in the eighth when the Sons garnered their only tally. This evening the same two clubs will battle at the Athletic Park in a league fixture at 6 o'clock. The Sons of Canada will have Sonny Walker on the mound this evening and will be after revenge.

icans could only balloon far over the back line.

Van Ryn enabled the Americans to pull up level again with a great service game as Tuckey made three errors. Allison smashed a kill so hard the ball bounced into the stands.

FOURTH SET

England won the fourth set, 6-3, to square the match at two sets apiece. The Americans won the first three points of the thirteenth game of the third set against Hughes' delivery and finally broke him to take a 7-6 lead. The final point was an exchange of volleys from the service line until Tuckey finally leaped high and tipped the ball to lose the point.

Allison led 40-30 on service in the fourteenth and final game and then served a double fault. He double-faulted again to give his rivals the advantage but saved the game with a great placement. After Van Ryn gave him set point with a kill at the net, Allison served a scorching which Tuckey barely touched to finish the set.

FIFTH SET

Tuckey opened the fourth set with a win on service after the game went to deuce. Van Ryn outed the last point badly. Allison squared the set in another deuce game, going to the net himself to score winning volleys for the last two points. Hughes won the third game as Van Ryn netted three.

Allison made it three-all, going in to the net to win the last point with a pretty volley off his shotops. The Britons regained the lead, however, at 4-3, as Hughes held his service at love. Two of Tuckey's smashes were good for points and Allison accounted for the other two with two drives that went outside.

The Britons broke Van Ryn with the loss of only two points in the eighth game as a footfault was called on Johnny for the final point after he had served a clean ace.

Hughes and Tuckey closed out the set in the ninth game as Tuckey held his service at 4-1. Van Ryn, unsettled by the decision that had gone against him, knocked the last three points right into the Britons' laps, overdriving the baseline on them all.

The Britons broke Allison, 4-2, at the start of the fifth set as Hughes scored with three great kills at the net.

Tuckey, holding his own service, made it 2-0 at love when the Americans fell victim to Hughes' smashes even when they did succeed in getting a racquet on Tuckey's serves.

Van Ryn held his own service to win the deuced third game, winning out after the Britons had overcome a 4-0 love deficit.

Hughes made the score in games 3-1 as he won the deuced fourth game. Allison held his own delivery in the fifth game, winning the last two points with cannonballs.

Allison twice missed up simple smashes at the net in the sixth game which Tuckey won at 4-1 on his own service.

Van Ryn held his own service, also at 4-1, going in to smash the last two points at Tuckey's feet and the British lead was four games to three.

Hughes exploded another love game to give the Britons a 5-3 lead. The Americans returned only one of his terrific serves and Tuckey killed that one without further argument.

Allison, after netting two in a row, let the score go to 15-40 against the Americans in the last game and then double-faulted into the net to end the match on the weakest possible note.

BELGIAN TAKES TOUR DE FRANCE

Paris, July 29.—Romain Maes, young Belgian bricklayer, to-day reaped after winning the twenty-ninth annual Tour de France, the world's most grueling bicycle race. He covered the 2,680-mile course along the coasts and borders of France in 141 hours, 22 minutes, 39 seconds.

Flashing their victory smiles, the winners are, left to right, Mary Lou Petty, Doris Buckley, Betty Lea and Olive McKean. Betty Lea is the new fifteen-year-old swimming sensation of the northwest.

Victorians Victors In Shawnigan Event

Take Majority of Swimming and Rowing Contests On Lake Regatta Programme; Good Crowd Sees Races

Victoria competitors swept the majority of events on the rain-soaked programme of the Shawnigan Athletic Association on Saturday as a good crowd dodged showers to see visiting and local talent in action in the various water events.

Following the aquatic entertainment, Brunson's Boys, outstanding Victoria football team, defeated the Shawnigan Lake nine 10 to 6. R. Cornford and Dunnett formed the winning battery while Bonford and Cronk took charge of the heavy work for the Lake team. Joe Williams and Ted Ellis umpired.

The regatta featured the twenty-fifth birthday of water events sponsored by the lake association.

Swimmers of the Pacific Swimming Club and the Y.M.C.A. dominated the majority of open events, while J.B.A.A. cransmen gave neat displays in shell races.

The usual events for residents were well contested, particularly in the motor boat class.

In a special children's race for the youngest competitor swimming twenty-five yards, Dick Ellis, nine, won the Kidd Medal, although Joey McKinnon, ten, covered the distance in much faster time.

A dance and prize presentation ceremony in the evening drew the event to a close.

New York Giants Score Double Win

Increase Lead In National League Baseball to Game And Half By Upsetting Brooklyn 6 to 0 and 1 to 0; Cubs Win Again; Detroit Moves Farther Ahead In American

Chicago Cubs were considered as "dark horses" in the National Baseball League pennant race even when they were as far down as fifth place in the standing, but now they have come right out in the open as contenders—and very dangerous ones—for the flag.

In a spectacular home game which began just after the all-star game early this month, they won twenty out of twenty-three games, including four in a row from the league leading New York Giants, displaced St. Louis Cardinals as chief challengers for New York's top place and cut the Giants' lead to one and half games.

Chicago extended its latest winning streak to nine consecutive triumphs yesterday by beating over the Cincinnati Reds 11 to 7 in the last home game before a week's road tour.

Giants, however, did just a trifle better against Brooklyn, winning two shutout games, 6 to 0 and 1 to 0 on superb pitching performances by Carl Hubbell and Clyde Castelman to add a half game to their slender margin.

CARDS BEAT PIRATES

Cardinals, down in their place, managed to crack Pittsburgh's nine game winning streak by taking the first game of the first Sunday double-header in Pittsburgh baseball history, 4 to 3, giving Dizzy Dean his sixteenth victory of the season. But the Cubs came back to take the afternoon 5 to 4, when Paul Dean walked in the winning run in the ninth. That left the Cards three games behind the Cubs.

The mighty Detroit Tigers increased their American League lead to three full games over New York Yankees when they pounded out a 14 to 6 triumph over Cleveland, getting enough runs in the early innings to resist a five-run rally that drove Schoolboy Rowe to cover in the second. The dropping Yanks could get no better than an even break with Washington, resisting late attacks to take the opener 7 to 6, but fading in the second clash and going down 7 to 1.

Like Detroit, Chicago White Sox pounded out twenty hits and a 14 to 6 victory in the first game of their double bill against St. Louis. They scored ten runs in the second inning. The Browns took the afterpiece 4 to 3 in the ninth inning rally started by Julius Solters' circuit swing.

Boston Red Sox moved into fourth place ahead of Cleveland when they attacked four Philadelphia pitchers, starting with a rookie, Wedo Martin, for fifteen blows and won 11 to 3.

Phillies and Boston Braves split a double-header, Philadelphia taking the opener 4 to 1 behind Sylvester Johnson and Braves pulling out an 11 to 10 decision when the last two of six Philadelphia errors supplied the winning run in the ninth.

ELECTRIC EYE FOR CANNERIES

Device to Segregate Pale Fish From Red Might Find Use In B.C.

The practicability of applying the "photo-electric eye" to segregation of salmon in some of British Columbia's canneries is being discussed by operators, according to George J. Alexander, deputy commissioner of fisheries for the province, who returned to-day from a two-weeks' inspection trip of the fishing grounds.

A place where such a device would be of great benefit is in the Rivers and Smith's Inlet areas, said Mr. Alexander. Pale fish among the sockeye lower the general brand. Men are employed to pick out the pale fish, but this is extremely difficult work and after only a short period men become almost "color blind" trying to spot the poor fish. If some photo-electric eye could be focused on the fish, operating a lever to throw out the pale ones, it would be a boon to the industry.

The situation was emphasized more than ever this year, said the deputy commissioner, by the exceptionally good sockeye run in these two inlets, while the Skeena and Nass rivers, with the best fish, are having a very short pack.

Another problem arising from this year's run in Smith's and Rivers inlets is one for the biologists. The early run was of mostly small fish, running eighteen and twenty to the case, whereas the usual run is twelve and thirteen to a case.

Generally speaking, the sockeye pack this year is not good, said Mr. Alexander, with the run in the Skeena and Nass not half of last year. The Nimpkish River has done fairly well and the authorities believe the prohibition of drag seines may have had something to do with it.

While Mr. Alexander did not visit the Fraser River fisheries, he said reports from that area indicate very few sockeye have appeared and prospects for the run are not good. A big year for pinkies and chums is expected on Puget Sound, however.

There are forty-one canneries now operating and two or three more are expected to handle the late fish. Forty-nine operated last year.

COAL INDUSTRY GAINS IN U.S.

Associated Press
New York, July 29.—Charles F. Huber, administrator for the anthracite industry of the United States, said to-day the industry's efforts in self-regulation have brought quick and beneficial results.

"Eighty-five per cent of the anthracite industry is co-operating in the programme to end unfair price discrimination, secret rebates and unfounded rumors, all of which lead to unsound merchandising," he said. "There seems to be a new spirit of hopefulness and a renewed desire to 'play ball' throughout the major units of the industry."

Infirmary Will Accommodate 150

Government to Have New Home at Coquitlam Ready By December

The new infirmary to be built by the provincial government at Coquitlam to take care of aged patients from Esquimalt Mental Hospital should be ready for occupation by December, Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary, said to-day.

The work of remodeling the Boys' Industrial School at Coquitlam and altering some of the existing buildings to serve as a home for the aged and infirm will get under way shortly, the minister said. Contracts will be let within the next few days for the alterations to the boys' school and for construction of a steam line from Esquimalt to Coquitlam for heating purposes.

Approximately 150 senile patients from Esquimalt will be accommodated in the new home and this will relieve overcrowding at the mental institution. Patients housed there will be cases who are not insane but simply infirm and feeble-minded.

The accommodation at the Boys' Industrial School will be reduced because there have not been more than fifty inmates in the school for some time, while the present buildings would accommodate 130.

HOT WEATHER AFFECTS CROPS

Rain Would Be of Value, Says Agricultural Report

The recent hot weather has had a detrimental effect on loganberries, and has reduced the crop slightly though not seriously. The heat has brought the vegetables along rapidly, but rain would be of value, according to a report from the Department of Agriculture to-day.

High temperatures for the year were recorded on the island on July 13 and 14, the report notes and, due to the hot weather, wheat is ripening fast, and some cutting has already been done.

Cats are beginning to color, while the hay crop has been practically all stored away. Loganberries and raspberries have passed their peak and Bing cherries are over. Lamberts are moving while Morelo cherries are being harvested in volume and Olivets are beginning to be picked.

The first pickings of Yellow Transparent and Duchesse apples were made in local orchards last week, and these varieties are beginning to move in quantity now.

The report also states that a large quantity of inland loganberries have been evaporated for definite orders.

EDUCATION FUND TO BE ALLOTTED

Allotment of the $11,000 annual fund for educating dependent children of soldiers for the coming school year will be discussed at a meeting of the special commission administering it next Wednesday.

Many applications are already in for assistance next term, Dr. Willis said.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

Durango, Colo., July 29. To the Editor of The Times—Rogers are like people, they are proud of what they have. Trinidad, with enough coal to melt the North Pole down till it runs. Then Wiley hit a beeline over the tops of the mountains to Durango, a beautiful little city, out of the way and glad of it. Gold, silver, and Mesa Verde cliff dwelling ruins where civilization flourished before it started to go backward. To-day Wiley was flying over Bryce Canyon, Zion Canyon, over down and through the Grand Canyon, Boulder dam, New Lake, no wonder American people are filling roads, train and air. There is so much to see. What we lack in reading we make up in looking.

Yours,
Will Rogers.

BENEFITS OF HOBBIES TOLD

Pastimes Develop Mental Faculties, Rev. Robt. Connell Tells Clubmen

"Shop or business is not the main thing in life; making a living is indispensable, of course, but living is the main thing. We live in a beautiful world. Whatever the world of many may be, the world of nature is more beautiful," said Rev. Robert Connell, M.P.F., when addressing the Gyro Club luncheon to-day in the Empress Hotel on "Natural History as a Hobby."

Natural history, Mr. Connell stated, offered an outlet from the deadening effect of business and developed a valuable training of mental faculties.

"Many business men are apt to neglect the important part a hobby can play in their lives," Mr. Connell said. He recalled that in the Old Country in earlier days all his business associates had various hobbies under development. He paralleled this with some of the U.S. business men who worked twenty-four hours a day now.

The first pickings of Yellow Transparent and Duchesse apples were made in local orchards last week, and these varieties are beginning to move in quantity now.

The report also states that a large quantity of inland loganberries have been evaporated for definite orders.

Mrs. Rattenbury Leaves No Cash

Will Passed By Courts Shows Auto, Jewels and Verse Only Assets

Will of Alma Victoria Rattenbury, who committed suicide June 4 on the banks of the River Stour, Christchurch, England, following her acquittal in London of complicity in the murder of F. M. Rattenbury, architect of the British Columbia Parliament Buildings at Victoria, has been passed for probate by Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald of the Supreme Court here.

The will was dated December 19, 1929, before she left Victoria with her husband to reside in England. Application was made by H. G. Heisterman, as counsel for the Royal Trust. It was set out that her "place of domicile was debatable, and consequently must be decided by the courts."

Christopher Compton Pakenham Rattenbury and John Rattenbury, 5 Manor Road, Bournemouth, England, were listed to divide her estate. However, figures presented to court revealed there would be nothing in the way of cash, at least, for them to divide, as her total assets were valued at $1,692.25, against which there stands an indebtedness of $1,975. This latter sum is made up of $225 funeral expenses, and $1,750 fees payable to English solicitors for services rendered to her. The English and British Columbia Governments consequently will get no succession duties.

Included in her assets were the automobile bequeathed to her by her murdered husband, jewelry and personal effects, including some of the lyrics she wrote for popular songs and other writings of sentimental interest. All these personal items, jewelry and the automobile were valued by the court at a total of $532.25.

FLOODS LEAVE 300 HOMELESS

Man Drowned in Hocking Valley of Ohio; Losses $1,000,000

Logan, O., July 29.—Raging flood waters cut a path of death and destruction through the Hocking River Valley to-day. Unofficial damage estimates ranged upward from $1,000,000.

Three hundred persons were homeless at Lancaster, eighteen miles north of here, where the surging waters swept away five houses and resulted in the death of one man and injuries to at least a half dozen other persons.

Streams, swollen by a terrific rain-storm yesterday, continued to pour into the Hocking River, which washed through lowlands, carrying livestock and small buildings on its crest.

Fishing Is Good Around Qualicum

Reports received from Qualicum this morning by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau are, that trout fishing is good in all rivers in that vicinity, especially in the tidal pools and also in Oyster River, between Comox and Campbell River.

Steelhead fishing is said to be exceptionally fine in Nahmint River. Visitors to the island should note that to get to the upper Ash River you go along the Beaver Creek Road from Alberni and then on the old Comox Road past Mrs. Lindsay's farm. The trail is cut from the road to Wolf Creek and along the river to Deacon's Fishing Camp.

THE PLAY

West's opening lead of the queen of hearts was won in dummy with the ace, East discarding a spade. The king of hearts was cashed, and followed by the ten. East let go of two more spades, South also discarded two spades. West won the second heart trick with the jack and immediately returned the seven of hearts, which dummy won with the nine. He then cashed the eight spot, East discarding two spades, South discarding a spade and a small diamond.

A small club was played and won by declarer with the king. Then the five of clubs was returned and dummy's jack was finessed. When it held the trick, the ace of clubs was cashed.

Then the good three of clubs was played. East was forced to discard the six of diamonds, South discarding the nine of spades, and West discarding a diamond.

At this point dummy held the ten of spades, the deuce of hearts and the ace-thre of diamonds. Declarer held the ace of spades and the king-jack-eight of diamonds, and West held the good heart and the queen-nine-five of diamonds.

Declarer played the ten of spades,
East played the queen and the trick was won with the ace. West found himself squeezed. A heart discard would establish dummy's deuce, while a diamond discard would give declarer three diamond tricks. While the contract was only three-odd,
clever play produced six-odd.

TRADE REPORT IS CHEERFUL

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, July 29.—The Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association today submitted another cheerful trade report to Canada's business men, a report that showed conditions generally were being maintained at a level equal to this time last year.

The report, for the week ending
July 27, follows:

Hallifax: Wholesale trade about the same as last year, hotels, garages and accessory stores reported increased sales. Collections fair.

Saint John: Wholesalers report volume fair, with retailers showing slightly improved returns.

Montreal: Most lines showing some improvement over last week. Collections slow.

Toronto: Almost all lines of trade continuing satisfactory, with hardware sales showing improvement. Automobile accessories also improving. Collections fair to good.

Winnipeg: Manufacturing reports show fair volume of business. Retailers rather quiet owing to the Holiday season, and collections slow.

Regina: Groceries selling well, and most other lines fairly good. Due to extreme heat, retailers quiet. Collections fair.

Moore Jaw: Boots and shoes quiet, but other lines and collections fairly good.

Saskatoon: For the fourth successive week, wholesalers report increased business activity, the sales of boots and shoes doubling that of last July. City retailers quiet owing to warm weather, but country trade better. Collections good.

Calgary: Little or no change reported from this time last year, while collections still difficult to make.

Edmonton: Boots and shoes and ready-to-wear lines improving, and others generally fair. Current collections fair.

Vancouver: Most lines continue fairly active, and collections fair.

STOP EARLY ON MISFITS

Don't Push Bidding Too High When You Are Short In Partner's Suit, Although Slam Will Be Made

By WM. E. McKENNEY

This is the fourth of a series of hands by that famous mid-western team composed of William F. Hopkins and Charles Porter of Cincinnati, and Aaron Frank and Jeff Glick of Cleveland.

This was the first team, other than an eastern four, to win the national championship knockout team event.
They will return to Asbury Park the week of August 5 to defend their title.

Misfit hands are generally the pitfall of any player. Your partner

Today's Contract Problem

This is the fifth of a series of hands by the holders of the national knockout team of four championship. The contract is three no trump by East, which South doubles.
His opening lead is the jack of clubs. How many tricks

one or none. You have a good hand of your own, but you must immediately be warned that your partner may be void of your suit.

You have to decide, in the early stages of the bidding, just what moves you are going to make, for these misfit hands are very dangerous.

Jeff Glick in to-day's hand was quick to sense the misfit and, although he had a strong hand after passing and his partner showed two suits, he was satisfied with a game contract at no trump. However, when it came to playing the hand he was out to get all the tricks he could. He wound up by making six no trump in the following manner:

THE PLAY

king of hearts was cashed, and fol-

himself squeezed. A heart discard would establish dummy's deuce, while clarer three diamond tricks. While the contract was only three-odd,

clever play produced six-odd.

Divorce Efficient Remedy?

Passing Along The Love-Much-Married

A WOMAN recently celebrated her fifth divorce by giving wives a few tips upon marriage. Among other things she said: "Men are all alike and young girls married to their first husbands might just as well remember that."

Another woman whose whole married life had just been one husband after another said practically the same thing to me. "When you divorce one man and marry another, all that you do is to swap one set of faults for others that are just as objectionable," she opined over the depths of her experience, and then she added: "If I had taken as much trouble to get along with my first husband as I do with my last, I would have been just as happy and well off and would have saved myself all of the heartaches and the mess of divorce."

These are words of wisdom which every wife should pass upon the mirror of her dressing table where she will see them every time she puts on her complexion, in order that their warning may sear itself into her consciousness and give her pause before she chucks her husband into the ashcan because she has discovered a few flaws in his character, or decided that she doesn't like the color of his eyes or the way he has his hair cut.

Inevitably marriage is full of disappointments for women, because they go into it with preposterous hopes and expectations that are impossible of fulfillment. Even the most h-d-bolled bride believes that she is marrying a Fairy Prince and that their life together will be filled with thrills and be a perpetual petting party.

And when she finds out that she is united to just an ordinary he-man who has temper and nerves and fussy little ways that get on her nerves, and discovers that romance cannot stand the wear and tear of bills and babies and cooking dinners and scrubbing floors and doing somebody else's way instead of her own, and that husbands expect their wives to take their affection for granted and say it with beefsteaks instead of orchids, why, she only too often begins to think that she picked out the wrong man and that all of her dreams would come true if she were married only to some other man.

How happy she thinks she would be if she were only married to Tom, who is a go-getter who could give his wife fine houses and lovely clothes and sixteen-cylinder cars! How exciting life would be if she were married to Dick, who is gay and pleasure-loving and always wanting to go places and do things! How ideal marriage could be if she only had a husband like Harry, who understands her and talks to her about her soul and quotes passionate poetry to her!

She feels that she has made a terrible mistake in marrying John, who is good and kind and tender, but who isn't much of a money-maker. Or Sam, who is as domestic as the house cat and faithful as old Tobe, but who can't be prided away from his fireside of an evening with a crowbar. Or Fred, who is a good provider and good-natured and easy to get along with, but whose conversational range runs from the office to the stock market and stops there.

So, acting upon the same principle in marriage that she uses in shopping-that if you don't like your pick when you get it home and give it the once-over, the thing to do is to exchange it for something that really fires your fancy-only too often the dissatisfied wife swaps off her old husband for a new one.

But it is only in the rarest cases that she finds she has bettered her bargain and that the new husband is an improvement over the old, or that Tom, Dick or Harry are any easier to get along with than were John, Sam or Fred.

Tom may give her more money, but he also gives her more back-talk than John did. Dick may take her to more night clubs than Sam did, but he keeps his charm and high spirits for the public and not for home consumption. Harry may make love beautifully, but after the honeymoon is over he exercises his accomplishments on other women and not his wife.

The truth is, of course, that human nature is human nature and men are men and none are perfect, and no man ever really comes up to his wife's heart's desire. Always there is something lacking. Always there is a fly in the amber. Always there are faults to be overlooked, weaknesses to be forgiven, idiosyncrasies to be condoned, whether it is a first husband or a fifth.

Every wife has to employ the same technique in dealing with every husband. She has to use patience and tact and even heroism in dealing with him, and if she does this with her first husband she can get along with him as well as she can a second, or a third, or a fourth. For every man has his drawbacks, and trading husbands is a losing business.

Uncle Wiggily In The Mud

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Uncle Wiggily waited until Nurse Jane had taken her soap on the soapy water in which she was washing the dishes and then asked:

"Where is the red pepper, Miss Fussy Wussy?"

"Oh! I know where you're going!" laughed the mustered lady housekeeper as she dried her paws on her apron and went to the pantry. "You are going out in your auto to look for an adventure, aren't you?"

"Not, yes, I did you guess it?" the rabbit gentleman wanted to know.

"Because you always sprinkle red pepper on the bologna sausage time of your auto to make them roll fast, that's how I know," said Nurse Jane. "Well, here you are and I hope you-er-choo-ber-choo!"

"Why do you hope I'll ker choo, Nurse Jane?" asked Mr. Longears.

"Oh, I didn't mean that-I mean-her-saltiness!" said Miss Fussy Wussy, and then she laughed and so did Uncle Wiggily for he knew she was only joking.

"Some of the red pepper got on my nose and made me sneeze," said the mustered lady.

"So I heard!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "Well, when I'm sprinkling the pepper on my auto tires I'll hold my nose so I won't sneeze."

READY FOR A LARK

In a little while Uncle Wiggily brought the can of red pepper back and having sprinkled plenty of the hot stuff on his auto tires, then he was ready to go adventuring. He rode off through the woods along the shore of Green Lake where he had a summer cottage. In the woods Uncle Wiggily heard the merry robin and laughter of his bunny rabbit and other animal buddies having fun on their summer vacation.

As Uncle Wiggily rode in his auto along the lake road, he saw in the dirt ahead of him what at first he thought was a stone rolling along. But when he looked more closely he saw it was the mud turtle who once had ridden with him and who had nipped the tail of the Bob Cat.

"Hello, Turtle!" called Uncle Wiggily, giving the mud chap a nick-name. "Where are you going? Want a ride?"

"Thank you, I'll walk," answered Turtle. "I am only going a little way down the road. Next time I'll ride with you."

"I'll be seeing you!" called Uncle Wiggily as he rode on past Turtle in his peppy-tired auto. He was going very fast but, all of a sudden, in spite of the red pepper, Mr. Longears felt his auto going very slowly. He looked over the side and found he had run into a big mud puddle. The wheels were stuck fast and no matter how much gas the bunny gave his car, it was still stuck.

"Well, this is too bad!" said Uncle Wiggily. "Here I am stuck in the mud and I can't see any other car to come to a tow. If I jump out to go for help I'll get my paws stuck in the mud, too. Oh, dear!"

TURTLE TO RESCUE

While he was sitting there wondering what to do, he saw Turtle, the mud turtle, crawling along beside the puddle.

"What's the matter, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Turtle.

"I'm stuck in the mud," was the answer. "How am I to get out?"

"I'll help you," said Turtle kindly. "I know all there is to know about mud. You just sit there. I'll get a lot of my turtle friends and we'll pull you out of the hole. Just sit there and wait."

So Uncle Wiggily sat there, waiting. Pretty soon back came Turtle and with him were 500 other turtles, some very large. Some of them had long strings of wild grapes for ropes. They fastened these ropes to Uncle Wiggily's car, not caring how muddy they got themselves, and then the 500 turtles taking hold of the grapevine rope, all pulled together with

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

TUESDAY, JULY 30, 1935

Conflicting planetary aspects are discerned for today by astrologers. The eclipse of the sun on this date will be adverse to those in the Argentine, Borneo, Australia and the Far East, according to a London news.

This is a day that may be irritating and baffling to women. They should not put to the test any ambitious husbands may be unusually trying where financial matters are involved.

There is a good sign for those who seek employment. Unexpected opportunities for public service are forecast. Some problems of government are to be solved before autumn, it is predicted.

Double-dealing and intrigue will be prevalent in all classes under this way, which is believed to foster greed and selfishness.

The stars stress the power of example and suggestion at this time, for the poor will desire to imitate the rich and will demand their share of the nation's wealth.

The evening of this day is read as promising to men ambitious to be leaders in business or politics. New names are to be written in the newspaper headlines and new aspirants to public favor are to multiply.

Astrologers foretell for college men and college women much promise in coming months, when there is to be need for trained minds and skilled hands.

Lawyers are subject to the best possible direction of the stars. Many unscrupulous men will be eliminated from the legal profession.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of crisis in which it is possible to choose the road to happiness. It is wise to guard against making radical changes.

Children born on this day probably will be strong in body and keen of mind. Subjects of this sign usually are exceedingly individual and independent.

Henry Ford, manufacturer, was born on this day, 1863. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Robert J. Burdette, editor and humorist, 1844, and Oscar Charles Merrill, civil engineer, 1874. (Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

Nanaimo, July 29.—The Comrade of the Queen City Yacht Club, Seattle, skippered by C. H. Bolin, won the Tacoma-to-Nanaimo yacht race. The result of the calculations of the judges was announced at 11:45 o'clock Saturday night after the seven control points had checked in. Forty-nine boats finished the race.

The yachts sailed from Tacoma at various times, starting at 2:30 p.m. Friday until early Saturday morning.

Results in the length classes were:
Class 1, under thirty-eight feet—1. Frank Cook, Skipper III, Seattle Yacht Club; 2. A. A. Berry, Iola, Queen City Yacht Club; 3. J. L. Patton, Barnacle, Queen City Yacht Club.

Class 2, over thirty-eight feet—1. J. C. Reed, Irvina, Tacoma Yacht Club; 2. H. A. Puckett, Silver Spray, Queen City Yacht Club; 3. Arthur Rust, Eiretta, Tacoma Yacht Club.

CLOSE FINISH

At two minutes before 3 o'clock (the zero hour) a flotilla of fifteen cruisers rounded Protection Point, and made for the finishing buoy, half a mile distant, all closely bunched and finishing remarkably close to the designated hour. First boats had arrived previously, the first being No. 18, the Betty B. of the Tacoma Yacht Club, and owned by the rear-commodore of the club, B. Bradley. Her arrival time was 2:30.30.

The second boat was No. 15, the Analele, a thirty-four-footer owned by Capt. B. E. Skene, Tacoma Yacht Club. She was timed in at 2:32.31, just two minutes and one second behind the first arrival. The third arrival was the swallow, skippered by W. L. Healy, Tacoma Yacht Club. She arrived at 2:32.44. The fourth was the Maych, entered as No. 12 in the race, and owned and skippered by Capt. N. Johnson, of Tacoma Yacht Club. She arrived at 2:37.

At 1:30 the United States coast patrol boat Atlanta arrived in the harbor. Several other coast guard boats had accompanied the racers, but turned back after escorting them as far as Dodd's Narrows.

The convoy ships were H.M.C.S. Skeena and U.S.C.G. Atlanta, and other patrol craft. H.M.C.S. Vancouver dropped anchor at 12:45 p.m. beside the U.S.S. Dallas in the harbor.

King Egbert Expected to Be Ready August 9; No Date For Niagara

Work on the Canadian Australasian Line Ss. Niagara and on the freighter King Egbert, damaged in collision in the Straits of Juan de Fuca on the night of July 17, is proceeding well. Yarrows Limited and the Victoria Machinery Depot report.

The V.M.D. expect to have the freighter ready for August 9, they stated this morning. No definite date has been set for completion of the repairs to the Niagara, although the steamship company has announced that she will probably sail August 10.

Changes were working at the Esquimalt drydock all day yesterday on the Niagara, and Yarrows state that they are very satisfied with the progress being made with the job.

The Niagara suffered damage to plates, frames and superstructure from the impact of her collision, but to slightly at the bow of the bridge. The King Egbert had her bow seriously stove in.

Transpacific Air Route Now Ready

Supply and Construction Ship Completes Work On Island Bases and Agreement Is Signed With Shipping Companies

Associated Press
San Francisco, July 29.—Transpacific airplane passenger service took two steps closer to realization today with a double-barrelled announcement from officials of the Pan-American Airways system.

First, the return of the Pan-American's chartered supply and construction ship North Haven from its fifteen-week job of building stations at Midway, Wake and Guam Islands caused Col. Clarence M. Young, manager of the Pacific division, to announce "the air route is now ready for operations."

Secondly, officials of Pan-American, the Matson Navigation Company and the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company of Hawaii joined in announcing a ship-and-plane service agreement has been signed by the three firms.

Under the agreement, the two steamship companies will carry all heavy baggage of transpacific airplane passengers and will transport the passengers between points not directly served by the new air line.

In addition, all Matson vessels operating on the Pacific trade lanes will become, in effect, "mobile bases" for the Transpacific clipper ships.

Weather data will be furnished to the planes by the Matson boats, as well as by the shore stations.

Col. Young said no date has been set for the start of regular passenger service but that it will be started soon.

The nineteen-ton clipper plane now based at the Alameda airport on San Francisco Bay will make at least one more exploration flight. Its next trip will carry the huge flying boat to Wake Island and possibly to Guam and the Philippines. It has already made two round-trip flights to Hawaii and one to tiny Midway Island, 1,300 miles beyond Honolulu.
